Satisfaction Guaranteed

(1)

In recent years, Americans have not been satisfied with some of the goods and services provided them. Because of this, people are often displeased with the qualities and guaranteed success of the products they receive. As a result, many have turned to the "Do It Yourself" method of accomplishing a feat or job successfully. Using this piece of information to their advantage, several people and organizations have written books to help assist unskilled and inexperienced persons with useful hints and instructions for those who wish to master any particular subject, some of which range from the construction of a birdhouse to running the Boston Marathon. In accordance with this theme, the Bear Tracks staff has written a book which will (we hope) assist the average inexperienced student while giving the older, more knowledgeable student the chance to reflect on the ways he handled the various and sometimes unexpected situations encountered throughout the '78-'79 school year. This book will give useful tips for the student on many occasions and will also give examples of the way these tips are sometimes applied. For instance:

I. How To Fail a Class And Convince YOUR PARENTS That It Was the Teacher's Fault:

First, admit that the report card really is yours. Then, before your parents ground you for the next two weeks, tell them the truth.

"Another F?!?"

"But Mom! The Teacher doesn't like me!"

"Don't give me that."

"No, she doesn't! I don't know why!"

"What have you done to her?"

"Nothing, I promise."

"Then why does she hate you?"

"I don't know. I always answer all the questions she asks."

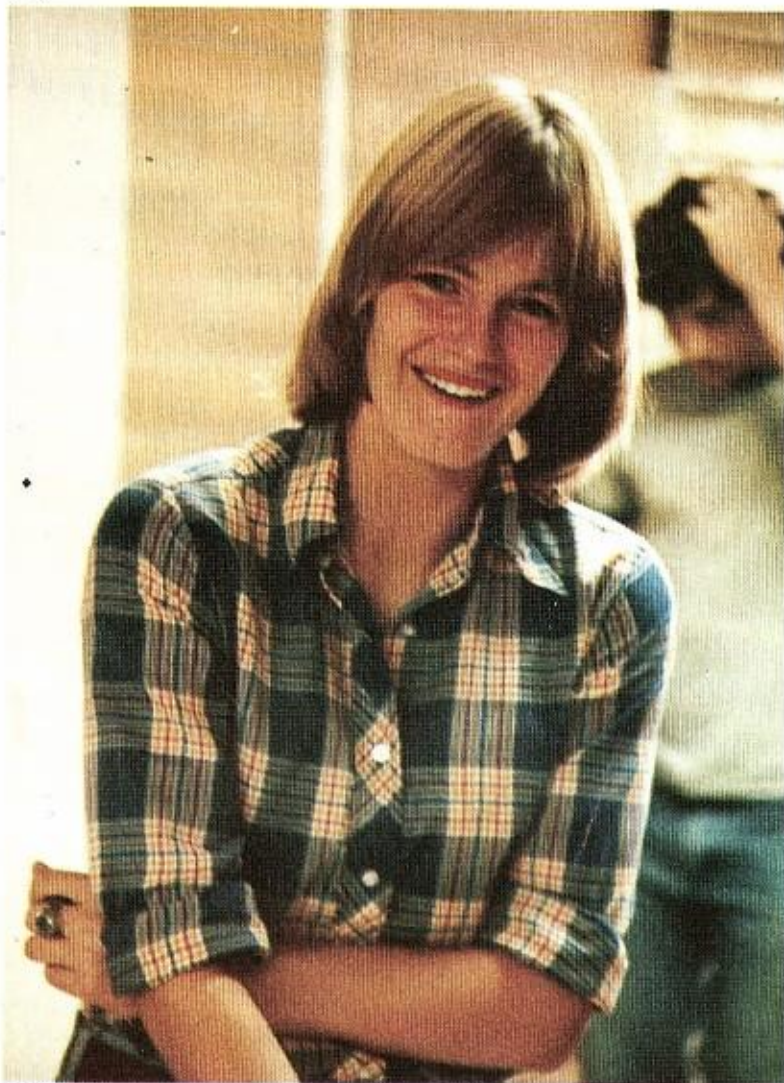

"Then why did you get an F?"

"She always loses my homework. Besides that, she's always hassling me to bring my grade up."

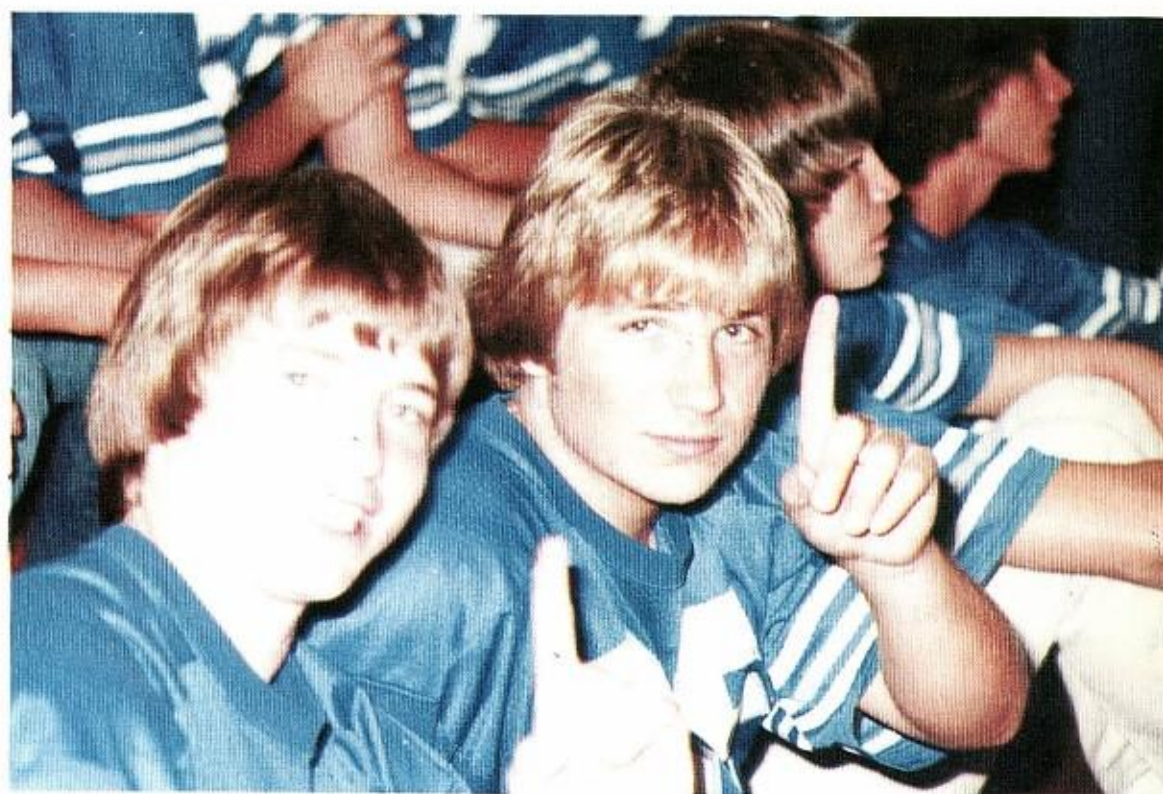

"Are you sure you didn't do something to her?"

"No, I promise."

"Well . . ."

Behavior at B. H. S.

... "Well . . . I'll let it pass this time. But I want it brought up by the next report card!"

"Oh, I'll bring it up, I promise I will."

"By the way, when is the Open House?"

Uh, oh. "I don't know. I'll try to find out tomorrow."

(Most students have forgotten the conversation by the next morning, and usually wait until the last minute to tell their parents when Open House is.)

II. How To Look Alert In Class When You're Really Asleep:

The most important thing to remember is to keep your head up. A good way to accomplish this is to either prop your head in the palm of your hand or lean on the wall behind you. Don't forget this very important rule: DO NOT SNORE!! That is a dead give away. Every so often, wake up and look around. This gives the teacher the impression that you know what is going on. Try to have a friend nearby, to warn you if the teacher is coming and for when the bell rings.

III. How To Sneak Into Class Late and Not Be Caught:

Sneaking into class can be very dangerous. The first thing to do is to take a peek in the room to see where the teacher is before opening the door. When she has her back to the door, quickly open the door, dash into the room, and quietly take your seat. Most students can easily pass this stage, but are usually caught when a best friend sees you coming and yells: "Where have you been?" a comment which starts the teacher in asking questions.

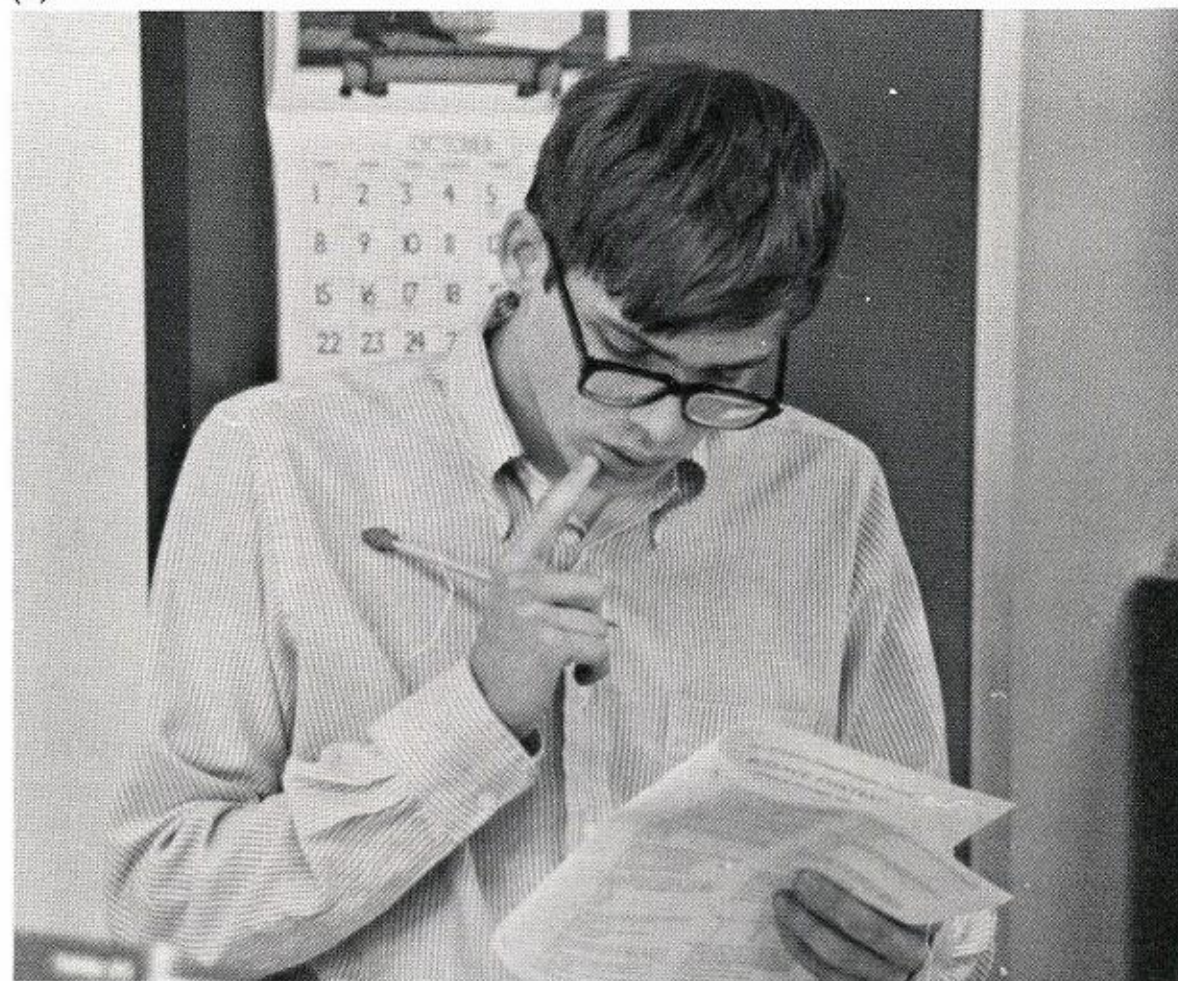

IV. Where To Go When You Are Supposed To Go To The Office:

On those rare occasions when the teacher feels that it's time for you to visit the principal, she/he will send you to the office with a misconduct slip. Naturally . . . while on your way directly there, you:

- 1) Suddenly have a strange urge to go to the bathroom.
- 2) Bump into a friend whom you haven't seen since break in the hallway.
- 3) Walk so slowly that by the time you get there, the misconduct is two hours old.

(3)

(4)

- 4) Realize that the office is not where it used to be and proceed to search for it, covering the upper halls, lower halls, and campus.
- 5) Take a tour through the new Brewer High School.

V. How To Answer A Question Legibly With A Mouthful of Crackers:

There comes a time in the day when the student realizes that he should have eaten breakfast, and that lunch is still two hours away. This realization uncannily occurs every day at the same time—second period. Fortunately for the student, there comes a fifteen minute break between classes in which he can buy something to curb his mid-morning munchies. However, there are disadvantages; by the time break is over, the average student has not finished his snack(s). He must then resort to eating them in third period. There are minor difficulties in the arrangement, however. Around the time you have almost finished off those cheese crackers, the teacher calls on you to answer a problem on page 16, question 18. There are several ways to react in case such an emergency arises:

- 1) Start Choking. The teacher will usually feel sorry for you and send you to get a drink, thereby forgetting all about the problem.
- 2) Try to slip the crackers back into your pocket before she notices them. This method is used by experts quite often, but unfortunately, most teacher's eyes prove faster than the students hands.
- 3) Ask her to repeat the question and swallow the crackers as fast as possible, adding a few coughs for effect. (This is used the most by inexperienced students in the cracker field.) A Real Pro can swallow the cracker, slip the package back into his pocket, and answer problem 18 on page 16 all in the same motion.

We are not advocating that this is the correct way for students to behave. Rather, we feel that we are accurately portraying the usual behavior patterns of most students at Brewer High School.

Homecoming 1978

A very important part of the student's school year is Homecoming. Weeks of preparation and organization go into the making of this day-long event. Because Homecoming is such a special occasion, we have given you a guide for the entire evening.

PREPARING FOR THE HOMECOMING

First, be organized and have everything under control: MOM! How does my hair look? Where is my make-up? Where did I leave my uniform? What am I doing? Who am I??? I hope my date comes a little late so he won't have to wait so long. What??? He can't be here yet!! He is! Oh no! I'm not ready!!!

(Usually the mind tries to concentrate on the matter at hand during dressing.) I'm so glad our club won the float contest . . .

Tammie Morrison looked so pretty when she was crowned Homecoming Queen ...

It took a lot of courage for those exes to get up and perform during the pep rally ...

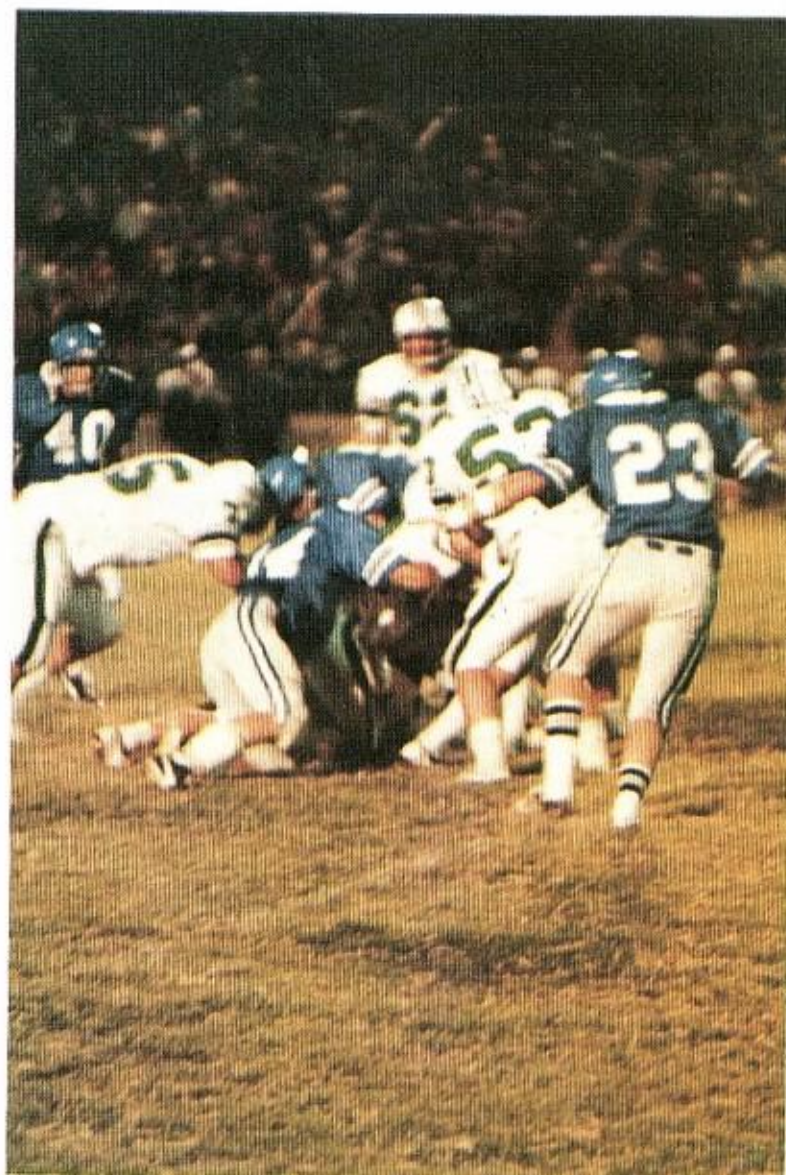

BEHAVIOR DURING THE GAME

A very important thing to remember is that this is not an ordinary game. You must act civilized:

"Kill him! Kill him! That's the way to score those points!"

Rrriipp ... "Sorry about stepping on your mum. I just go so excited!"

"(Comments heard during the Homecoming game.)"

(7)

"Look at that guy marching out of step. I'm glad that's not OUR band."

"Shhh. Someone might hear you."

"Don't chunk ice at them! So what if they're our rivals?"

"They made a touchdown?! Here, give me that cup of ice!"

"WE WON!" "WE WON!!!"

"CALM DOWN!!!"

The End of a Perfect Day

ENJOYING THE AFTER-GAME DATE

"Have all the arrangements taken care of in advance:

"Where are we going to eat?"

"I don't know. Where do you want to go?"

"Didn't you make the reservations?"

"WHAT???"

"Oh, no!" (groan)

"I thought you did."

"Did what?"

"MADE THE RESERVATIONS!!!"

"No, I didn't . . . wait a minute. Didn't you call earlier today?"

"Hmm . . . that's right, I did.

Sorry!"

Groan.

"What's wrong now? Why isn't the car moving?"

"You're not going to believe this, but I think it's out of gas."

"I don't believe it! That's the oldest trick in the world!"

"No honestly. It's out of gas."

"My mother is going to kill me!" (moan)

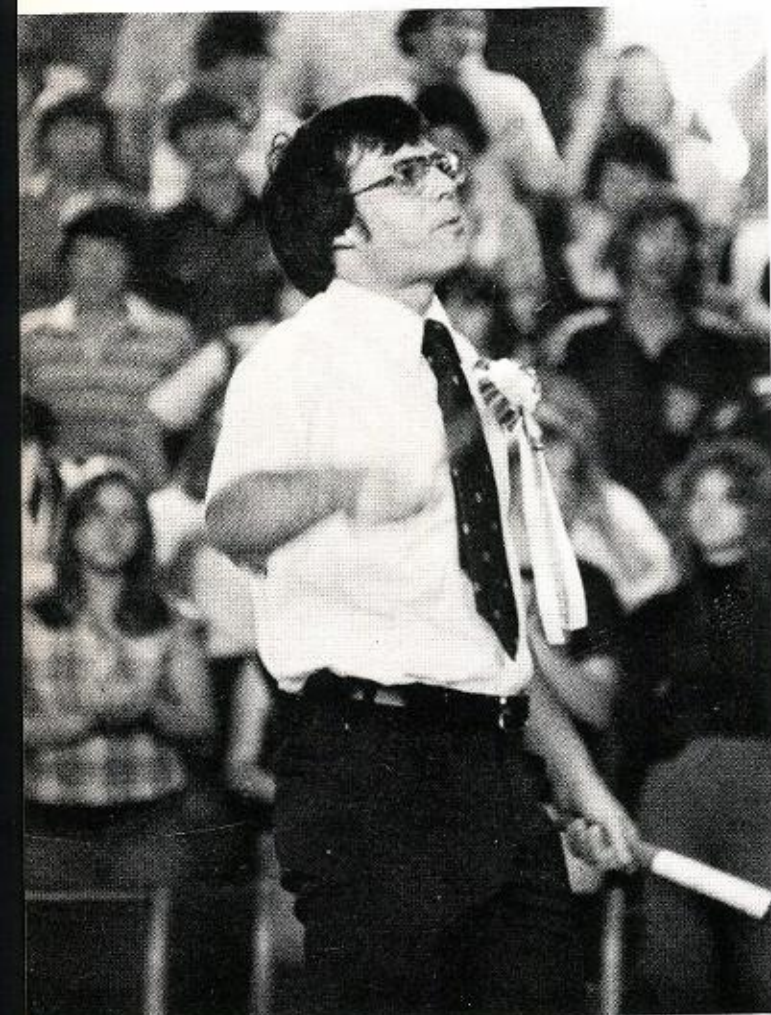

CONCLUDING THOUGHTS OF HOMECOMING '78

You should remember only the good portions:

Oh, what a night! I can't believe we ran out of gas, or that he forgot that he made the reservations, or that he stepped on my mum . . . I hope that tomorrow will be as much fun! . . . I hope I can still dance after marching in the parade . . . better yet, I hope I can get up tomorrow morning . . . it's time to quit day dreaming and go to sleep . . . I have to get up early . . . Night Life

As the 3:30 bell signals the end of the school day, students are already taking steps in planning the night ahead. Ideas about where to go, what to do, who to go with, and how to get there are given careful consideration. One place which is frequently visited by the youth of our community is the local drive-in. So, even though the sun is going down, the student's night life is just beginning . . .

The following is a guide to the activities which usually take place at the drive-in movie.

I. HAVE THE MOVIE CHOSEN WELL IN ADVANCE. THIS WILL SAVE BOTH YOU AND THE TICKET TAKER TIME AND TROUBLE.

"Which movie are we going to see? East or West?"

"I don't know. Which one do you want to see?"

"Hmm."

"Look at all those cars lining up behind us. I think you'd better hurry up."

"Let's go East. No, West."

"Who cares??? Just go!!!"

II. ONCE YOU HAVE CHOSEN THE MOVIE, PARK QUICKLY AND QUIETLY.

"Where are we going to park?"

"Over there."

"Where?"

"Over there!"

"Oh, over there!"

"Forget it, there's a car there already."

"Well, let's make up our minds . . ."

"Why are all the cars honking, and why is there such a glare on the picture?"

"I think it's because you left your lights on."

"Oh."

III. PROCEED TO ENJOY THE EVENING. IF POSSIBLE, TRY TO WATCH SOME OF THE MOVIE, SO THAT IF QUIZZED BY YOUR PARENTS YOU CAN GIVE SOME SORT OF COHERENT ANSWER.

"What movie did you see?"

"I don't remember the name of the show, but it was okay."

"What was it about?"

"Uuuuh?"

"Well, did you even watch the movie?"

"Of course. Well, not all of it?"

"I thought so."

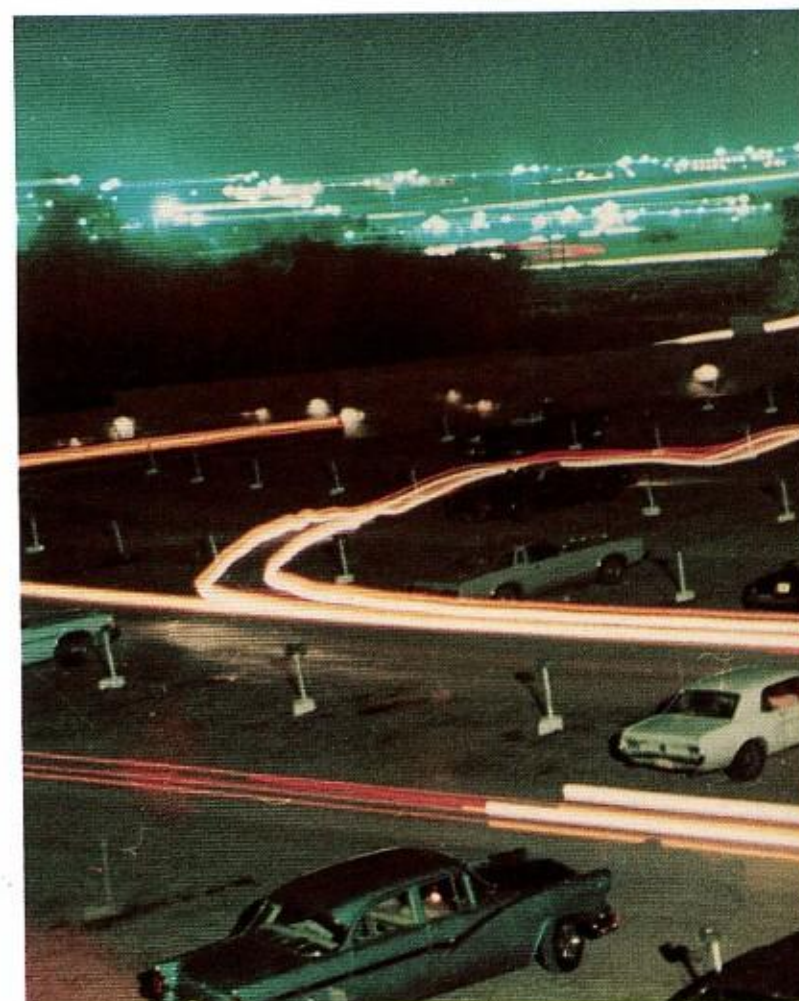

IV. DURING THE INTERMISSION RELAX AND GET SOME REFRESHMENTS.

"Let's get some popcorn."

"You mean some more popcorn. You've had two buckets already."

"Well, it's good!"

"I want a Coke too. Hurry back, the second show is fixing to start."

V. WHEN LEAVING, 'REMEMBER TO REMOVE THE SPEAKER
FROM YOUR WINDOW.'

"That was a good show."

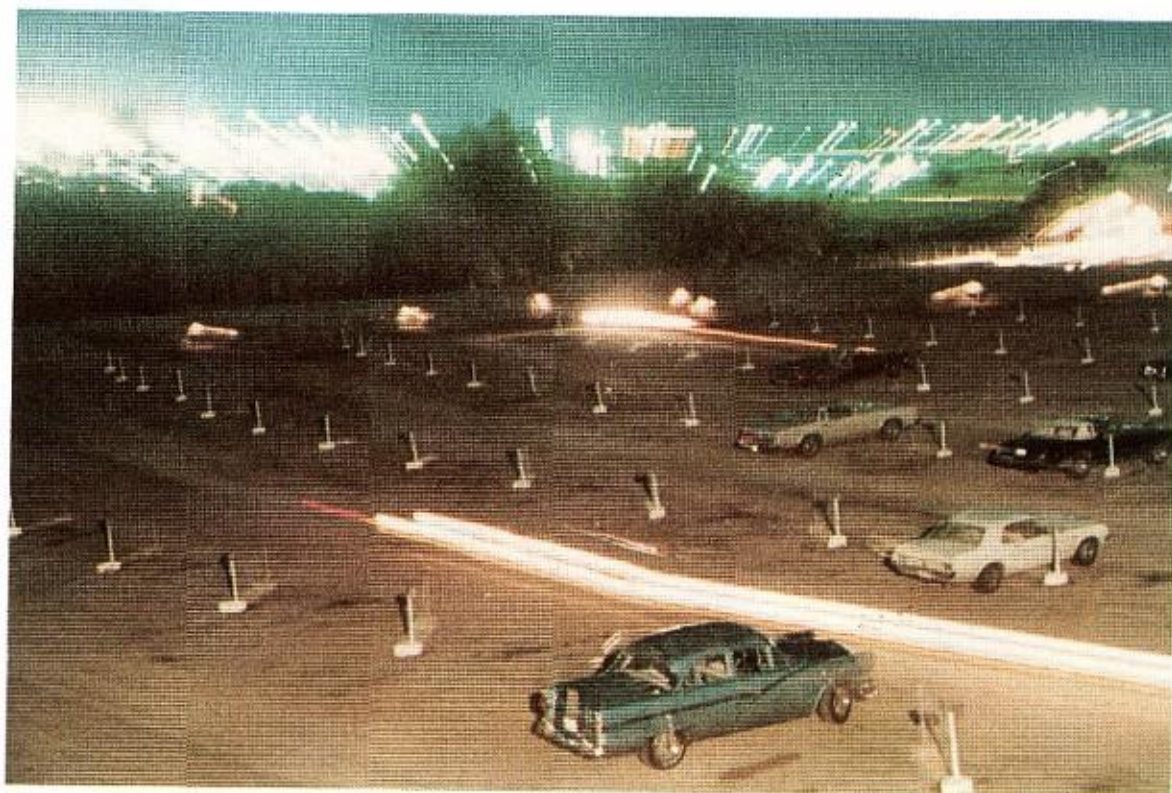

"Yeah, what little we saw of it!"

"Well, let's go." Rrrriipp.

"Oh no, not again!" (Groan)

"Don't tell me you forgot to unhook the speaker again."

"So I forgot. It's only the fifth time this month."

Activities Reflect Quality of Life at BHS.

Throughout the year, various activities are planned to help relieve the student of some of the monotony of school life. These activities may come in the form of assemblies (such as science shows, magic shows, etc.), or dances (slow/disco/country & western), or special events, (such as ice cream suppers, chili suppers, etc.). While some students view these activities as a way of "escaping" both boredom and classes, other students may regard them as a means of learning, be it useful or not. Many things may happen during an activity. The following is a sample of the way some students handle these ever present activities . . .

This section will be about what happens at an assembly. Assemblies occur many times during the school year, and many students come to look forward to them. One of the most important things to remember while attending one is this: Remain orderly and calm while on your way to the auditorium (or wherever the assembly is being held). This will greatly reduce the amount of time it takes getting in and out.

"Ooops! There goes the bell. Hurry up, will you? We've got to get out there before everyone else does." (There is only one flaw in this otherwise flawless plan; unfortunately for you, four hundred students have also had the same idea.)

"Do you know what we're supposed to see?"

"I don't care as long as it gets me out of second period."

"Me too!"

"Hey, watch out . . . here comes everybody!"

"Ouch! Someone just stepped on my foot!"

"Let go of my elbow!"

"Oooh, pain, agony!!" (And other sound effects.)

"What's the matter now?"

"Someone just shoved me into the stairs. Now I'll have a bruise on my leg. Just what are we going to see anyway? It had better be worth it!"

Enter here a third, very serious student:

"Oh, it will be worth it, all right. Don't you realize what we are going to see? This science demonstration will probably prove very useful in your future."

"How's that?"

"Well, the show will give you examples of our natural and rapidly diminishing resources and their uses in today's society. It will demonstrate their function as power sources and will give us examples of what we can expect to be using as power sources in the future, such as solar and geothermal energy."

Whisper—"What did he say in English?"

"I think he said we're having a science show about natural resources."

"Oh. Why didn't he just say that?"

"I don't know . . . you know how brains are . . . sshh, here he comes again."

"NOW do you understand what this show will be about?"

"Uh, sure! Thanks for the explanation."

(Most people would give BRAINS a "don't call us, we'll call you" look at this point, but it is not required.)

1. Ice Cream supper sponsored by the Athletic Booster Club.
2. Brandon the magnificent presents a magic show for the student body.

"So! That doesn't mean anything. Everyone danced with everyone at the Howdy Dance. That was a pretty good dance for the first dance of the year."

"You're getting off track. Don't you see? If he danced with her, then he probably knows her. And if he knows her, he could probably introduce me to her."

"Him? Know a cute girl like her? Are you kidding me?"

"He's not kidding you."

"WHAT? You really know her, BRAINS?"

"Yes, I really know her. Listen, I'm willing to make a deal with you. If you two can be quiet for the rest of the show, I promise that when it is over, I will introduce her to you."

"You really mean that Brains?"

"Yes, I really mean that. Now how about it, is it a deal?"

"It is a deal."

"Good. By the way, my name is not Brains, it is Mike."

"Sure thing Brai . . . uh, Mike. Can I ask you a stupid question, Mike?"

"Fire away."

"Why are you taking notes? Do you always do that at assemblies? If it is none of my business, well . . ."

"NO, that is okay, I will tell you my secret. I only take notes on assemblies when I am having a test over it later in Physics. Now can I ask you a stupid question?"

"Sure."

"Don't you have Physics the same period as me?"

About this time you realize that you do have Physics with Mike, you ARE having a test, and the test will count as a major grade. As quiet hysterics set in, you should turn to Mike and either borrow some paper or:

"Uh, Mike? Could I borrow your notes since the demonstration is almost over? The girl in the blue is going to have to wait . . ."

Once you are inside the auditorium (or wherever the assembly is being held), try to locate the friends who saved you two good seats. After you have spotted them, proceed as quickly as possible to the seats. This may prove to be a difficult task, since the four hundred students previously mentioned are attempting to do the same thing.

"Excuse me . . . excuse me . . . Why did they have to save us seats in the middle of the row?"

"Look, you have a seat, so stop complaining. Besides, we're almost there . . . excuse me . . ."

Now that you are seated, sit back and enjoy the show.

"Hey, who's that girl in the blue?"

"Now how am I supposed to know?!"

"There are at least fourteen girls down there!!"

"Look, there she is . . . the one about five rows down and to your left

. . . see her?"

"Oh yes, now I do. What about her?"

"WHAT ABOUT HER??? Do you know her?"

"Not really. I have her in my Physics class, but I don't know her name."

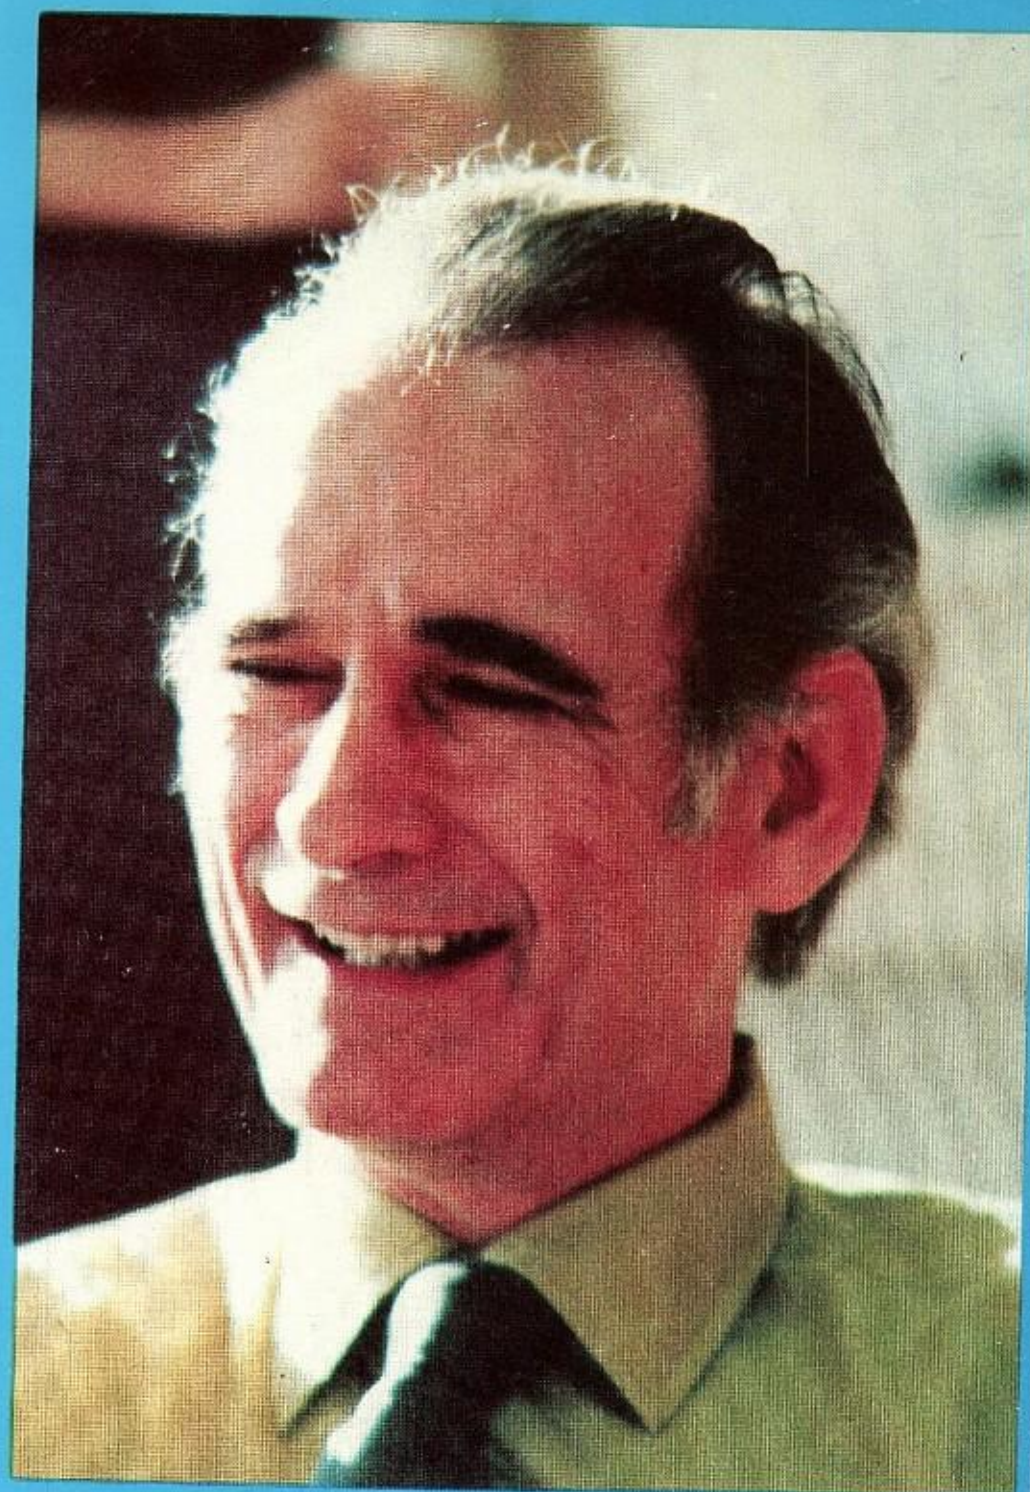

Enter here BRAINS, the third very serious student:

"Hush, you two! I'm trying to concentrate on this show and I can't hear over you. Did you see the way he used that bicycle to demonstrate the generation of electricity?" (Here at this point at which most people know automatically what to do. However, if you do not, simply say "Sorry!!" and return to a former conversation, namely the one about the girl in the blue five rows down and to your left.)

"Hey, you know what I just realized?"

"What?"

Dedication: Mr. W. E. Tucker

This year the Bear Tracks Annual Staff is proud to dedicate its 26th volume to someone who has shown leadership and service to the W. S. I. S. D. for 18 years. In 1960 he came to the school district and served on the school board until 1967. During this time he served as President in 1963. In 1971 he joined the faculty at Brewer High School where he teaches Introduction to Algebra 1 through 6, Geometry, Physics, and has been an active class sponsor for 7 years.

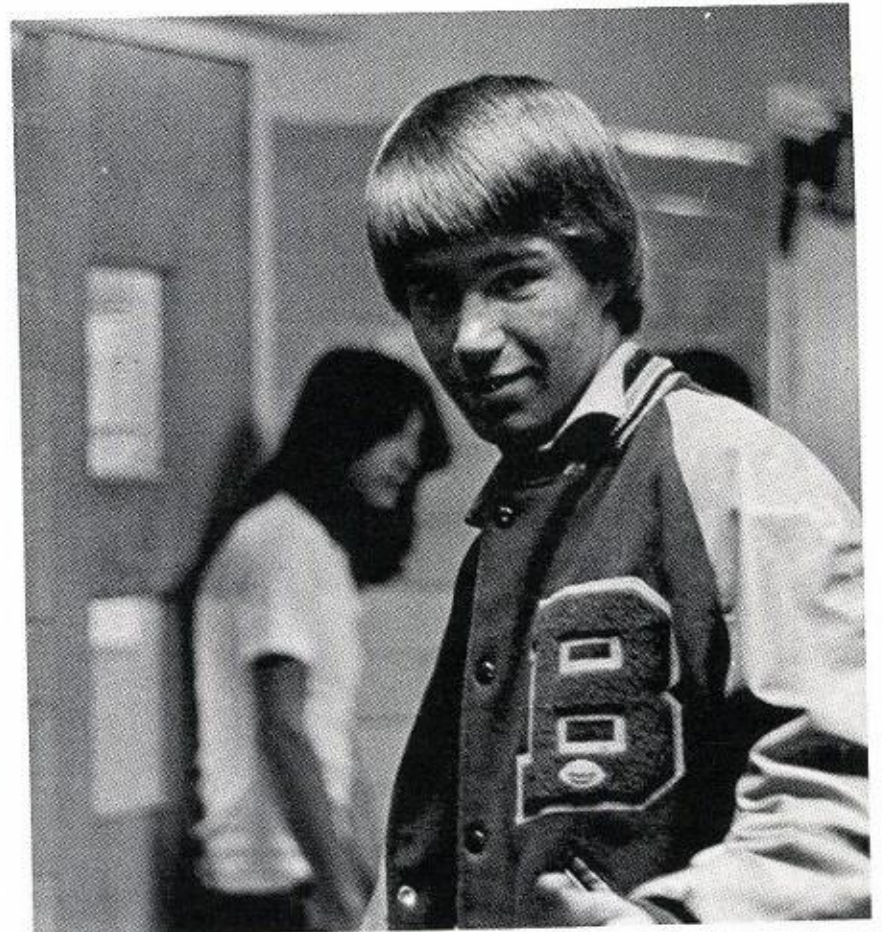

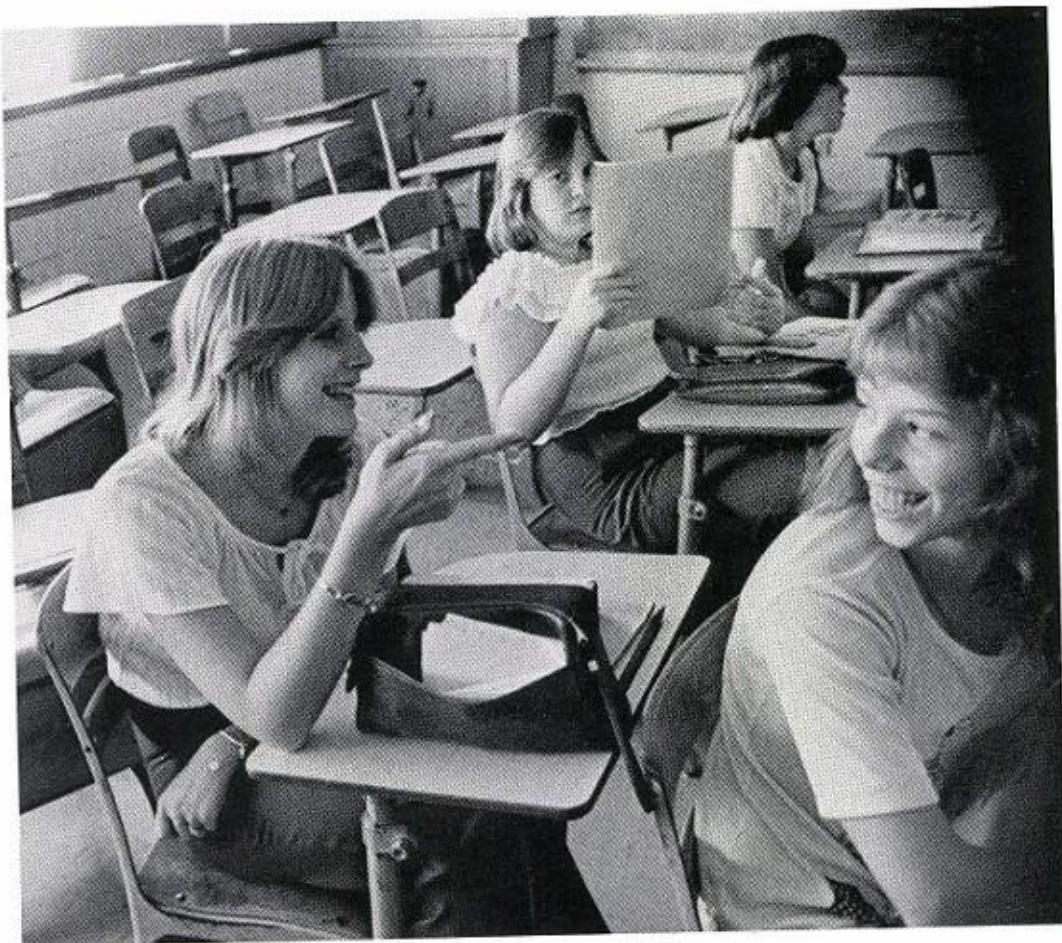

Mr. W. E. Tucker, we feel you richly deserve this dedication for your long years of service.

Ranch Day '79!

As the Fat Stock Show reached Fort Worth in late January, "Rodeo Fever" gripped Brewer students. Dressing for the occasion by wearing cowboy hats, shirts, jeans, and boots, the Student Council and student body celebrated by holding their annual Ranch Day on January 27. They featured such activities as running the Obstacle Course (with an egg in your mouth); the Chug-A-Lug contest (drinking shaken-up, warm, lemon-lime soda); the Chiquita Race (eating unripe green bananas); the Barrel Races (on a tricycle); and the Competition Poles (where the contestants had to pull their partners around orange construction cones on tow-sacks).

After the competition between individual students ended, each class participated in the Tug-Of-War. When the last tug on the rope was pulled, the Senior Boys and the Junior Girls were the Champion Classes.

As soon as all the activities were completed, scores were tallied and Ranch Day King and Queen were chosen. Mark Dill, senior, and Jeanna Summerhill, junior, became the royal couple for Ranch Day '79.

Fightin' Bears!

Varsity Football Has Third Straight Winning Record

The 1978 football season at Brewer was a bittersweet one, filled with its many ups and downs. The Bears opened the season at home against the Weatherford Kangaroos with a 14-6 win. A ball control offense combined with many Roo turnovers helped the Bears win a rain-soaked season premiere.

Brewer's next opponent was the Lancaster Tigers. The Bears were unable to match the Tiger's speed and were upset by the 'Big Play.' Twice, Lancaster scored on long runs and won 20-3.

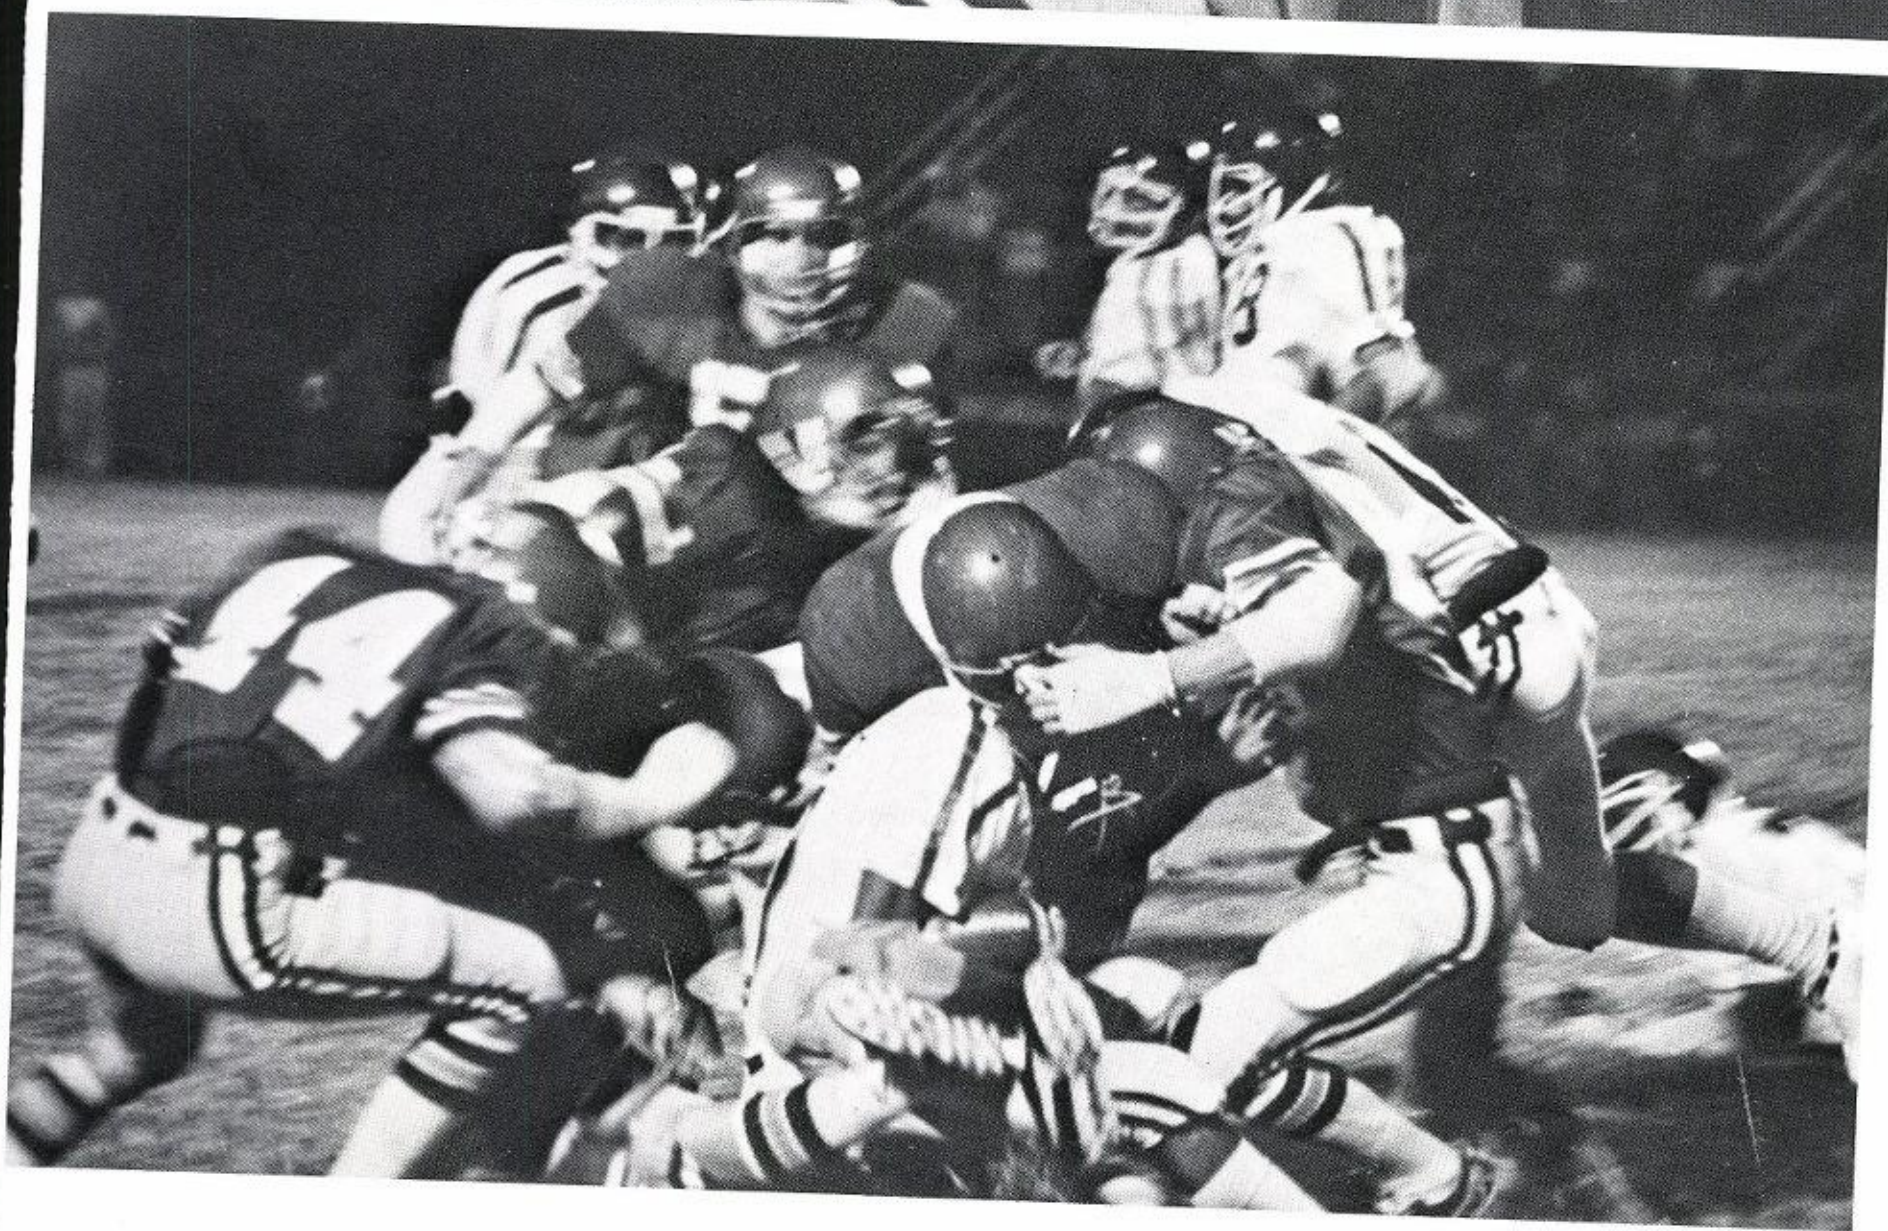

In the third week of the season the Bears traveled to Crowley for a fight with the highly regarded Eagles. Brewer played tough defense all night; however, with 1:30 remaining on the clock, the Bears found themselves down 12-7. With time running out, Crowley was forced to punt deep in their own territory. Ron Hoover came charging through the line to block the punt, but was unable to pick the ball up and he fell on it at the Eagle 6 yard line. Unfortunately for the Bears, Crowley held on four downs as Brewer failed to push it across and lost a heartbreaker.

Two weeks later the Bears came up against the 3A State Semi-Finalist Boswell Pioneers. The Bears couldn't get started on offense until the fourth quarter but by then it was too late as the Pioneers racked up the defense with their powerful ground game, en route to a 41 to 12 victory.

Next week the Bears were at home against the Azle Hornets in the 1978 Homecoming game. The exes weren't disappointed, as the Bears took advantage of the Hornets turnovers to take a 13 to 7 win.

Going to Keller the next week the Bears fought for over a half keeping it close. But the more numerous and larger Indians were too much for the Bears to handle as they were defeated 40-7.

At home the next week, the Bears played host to the Diamond Hill Eagles. It was a tough defensive battle and in the end the Bears came out on top 10-0 to register their first shut-out of the year.

Against the lightning fast Northside Steers it was a different story entirely as the Bears were in a slugfest. Both teams found the end zone frequently and kept the kickoff teams busy all night. But in the end, the Steers came out on top 40-28.

Again the Bears were in the middle of a tough defensive battle for more than three quarters of the game against the Carter Eagles. But in the last quarter the action was non-stop. Midway through the last period the Bears owned a 10 to 0 lead but on two possessions the Carter Eagles came back with two touchdowns to take the lead by two. The Bears then got the ball back with less than a minute to play. Jim Enright went to work with Mike Canard to complete seven passes in a row, the last one being a TD as the Bears won a squeaker, 16-12.

The final game of the season was at home against arch rival Castleberry

Lions. The Bears were in control throughout the game it seemed as the defense ground out the yardage and the defense held the Lions in check.

The season ended with a rush as

J. V. Takes District by Surprise

The 1978 Brewer Junior Varsity football team was indeed a Cinderella team. No one expected them to contend for the district title except what happened surprised everyone except the coaches and the players.

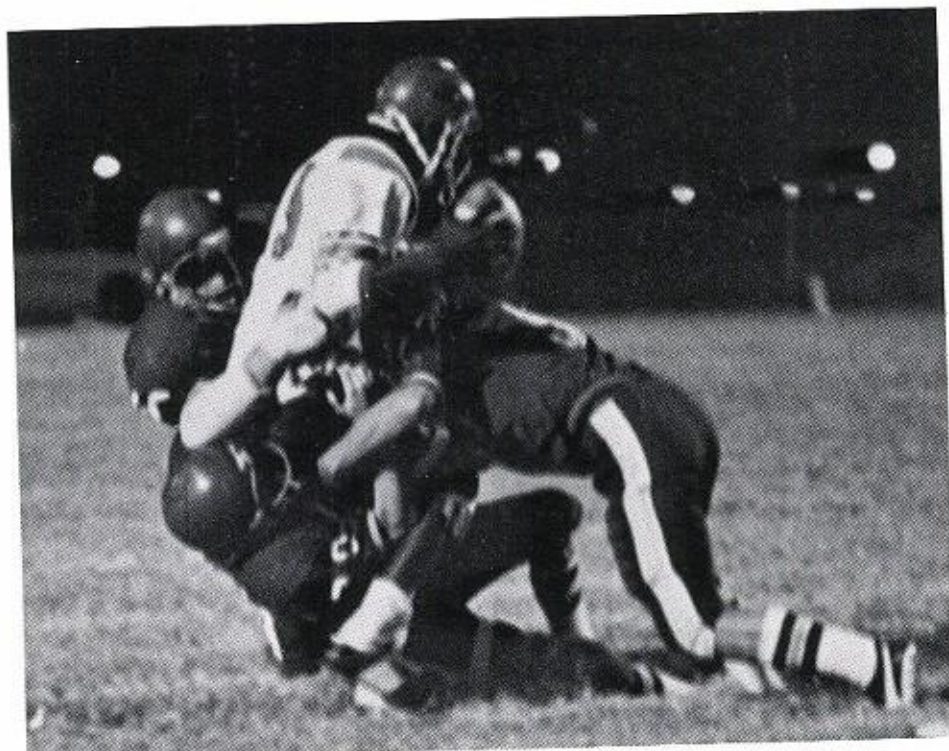

They started off the season with two straight losses. Then they went on a rampage and won six out of their last eight games, even though two of them were won on the basis of more first downs. This team proved they had what it takes to win football games, character. They did what it takes to get the job done. And have proved themselves to be an asset to the future of the Brewer Bears.

Even though track season hasn't started, practice has. With about 100 guys going out for the team, it's bound to be a good one.

"I feel that this year's team will be improved over last year's. We have a bunch of dedicated boys who try hard, and if you try hard, you've got it," stated coach Auten. Coach Auten is one of the three track coaches. The others are coach Large and coach Newton.

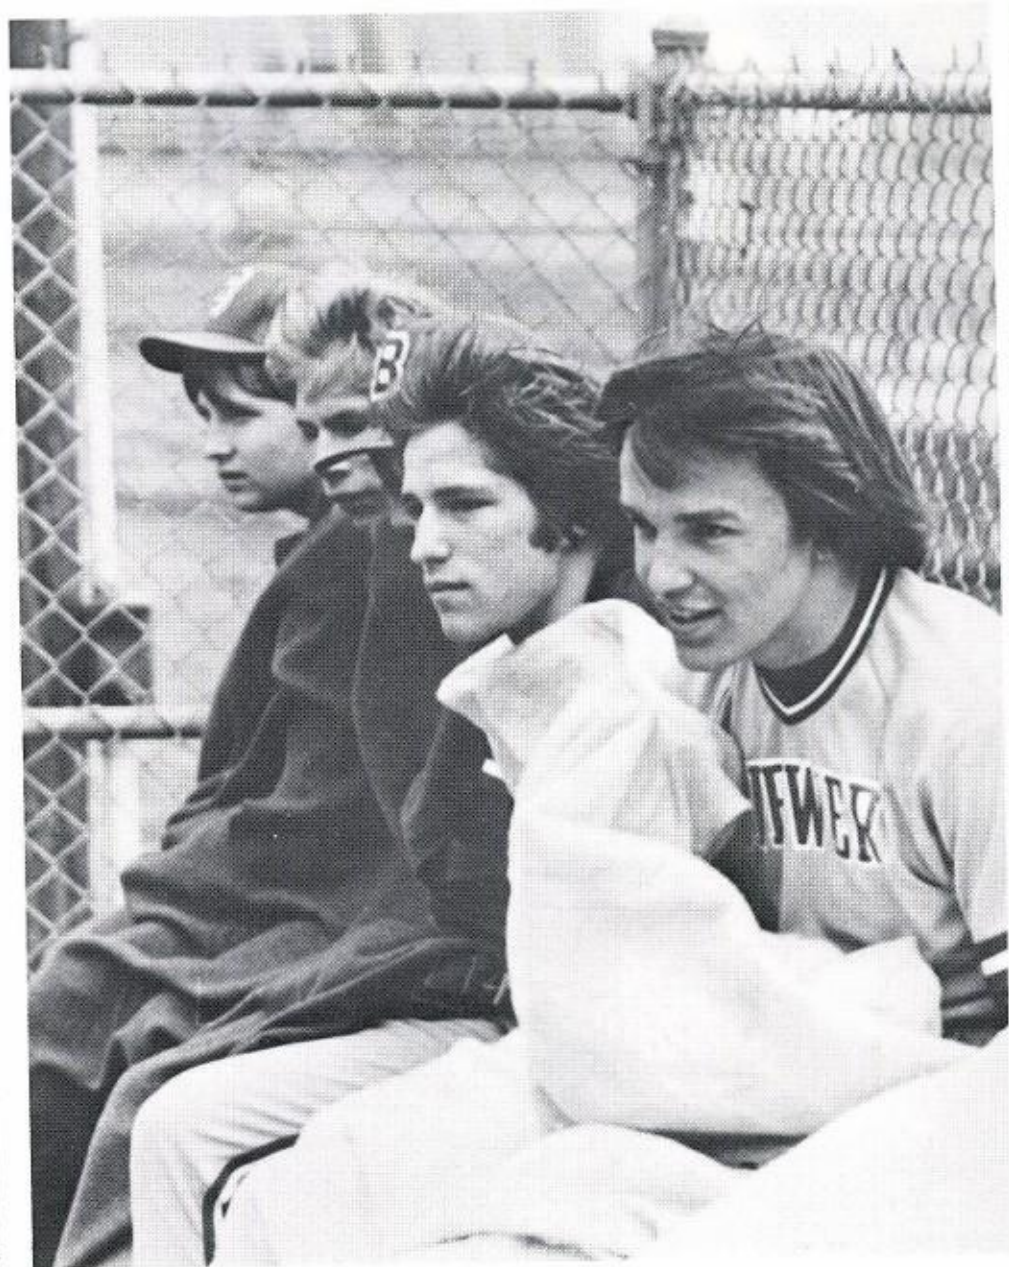

Their first meet is March 2, at Burleson. They are expected to do well, with the help of returning members of last year's track team. These members are; Larry Boatman—Third in the district mile, John Morton—Third in district high jump; and also John Hebert, Paul McDowell, Bobby Simpson, Mike Sholars, and Darryl Stewart.

Girls Suffer From Lack of Experience

It was the last game of the season. One of the Brewer girls was dribbling down the court. She jumped and shot the ball toward the basket. The buzzer sounded. The game was over and so was the season.

Lack of experience contributed to the team having a below average season of 13 losses and 3 wins. Blue Harrington, only senior member, was the leading scorer for the year; Kim Quayle and Vera DeLeon tied for second highest scorer, and Janie Ferrell was third.

"Our basketball team continued to improve throughout the year. This demonstrates their great attitude and willingness to work. Overall, our season was pretty good and very enjoyable," commented Coach Martin. Varsity members are: Blue Harrington, Vicki Blair, Pam Canard, Terri Clark, Vera DeLeon, Tracye Eckels, Janie Ferrell, Kathy Melanson, Kim Quayle, Cathy Robins, Sheryl Saldino, and Diane Smith.

Louise Holmesly
 "By being the best person I know how to be. By giving everything I can. By sharing myself with the people around me."

Elisa Sawyer
 "I can better BHS by supporting and participating in various student activities. I will try to be a better example for my peers."

Senior

Jack Scott
 "I can show respect for my teachers and fellow students, try to make friends, work to my highest ability in any activity or program I participate in. Whether I am at school or away I should represent my school."

Regina Holloway
 "I can better BHS by helping establish a broader range of academic classes that will bring recognition and open many doors to students in the future. My contributions to school activities and spirit will increase the pride and love felt by students throughout our school."

Tammie Morrison
 "My ideas on how to better Brewer High School is to get involved and help others get involved. It helps to enjoy your school more and you are proud of it."

Judie Tedford
 "I can try to be a good example to everyone and be a good leader in everything I do and maybe it will help BHS to have better leadership in later years."

John Hebert
 "I, as an individual, can better Brewer High School by helping to set an example of good citizenship and by encouraging school spirit. Another thing that I can do is to speak of our school with pride, and always point out the good traits of our faculty and student body."

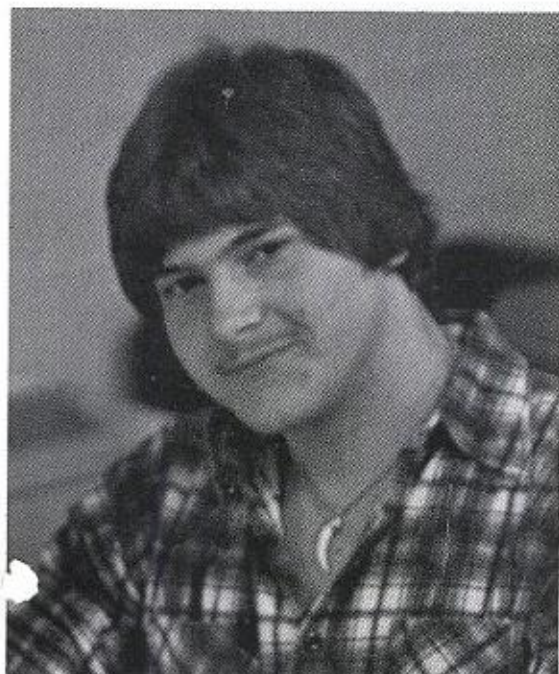

Scott DeShong

"In order to better Brewer High School, one must be willing to sacrifice himself in order to help those around him understand his goal and the need for improvement. As a person interested in seeing only improvement for this school, I have tried to be an example and to instill in others to be one in spirit and in knowledge. It is by being united as one that Brewer High School can accomplish any needs or goals which may arise."

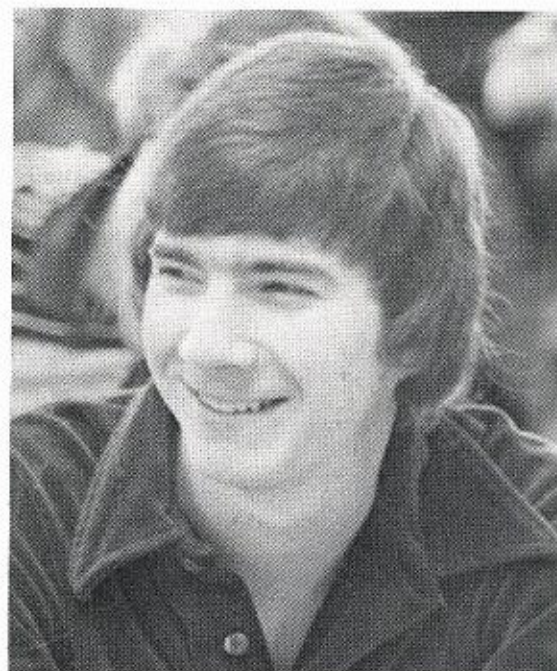

Who's Who

Bobby Simpson
 "Through my actions and behavior I represent a finished product of Brewer. From me the school can receive a reputation, good or bad depends on me."

Doug Morris
 "As I strive to better my education, I can not forget that I am still representing Brewer in all facets of my life. This involvement in extracurricular activities has shown the sense of pride of all Brewer students. This has helped to increase the acceptance of respect for Brewer students as well as faculty. Dedicated service to the many fine organizations has helped and will continue to help better our outstanding learning institution."

Carolyn Frambers
 "If I learn as much as possible, I can help others with this knowledge. It might not be beneficial to BHS, but it would be helpful on a much larger scale."

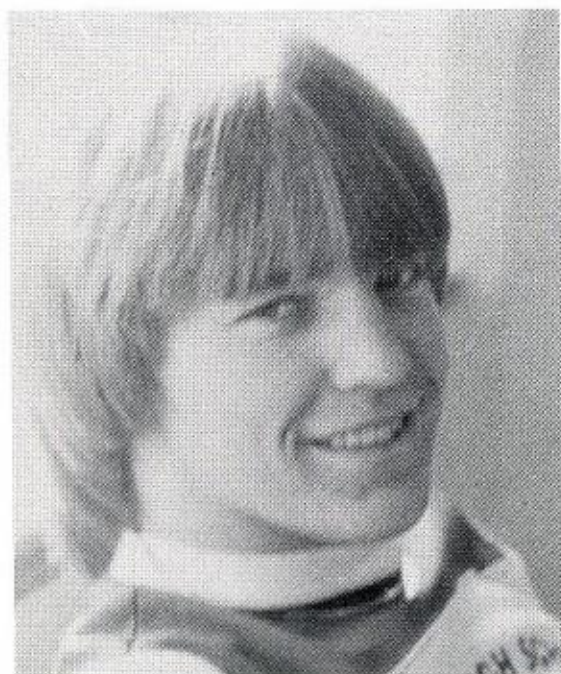

Carol Morris
 "The best way that I can think of to improve BHS is to support all school activities, even those I'm not in. Not everyone enjoys the same thing but a person should show respect for what others do."

Junior

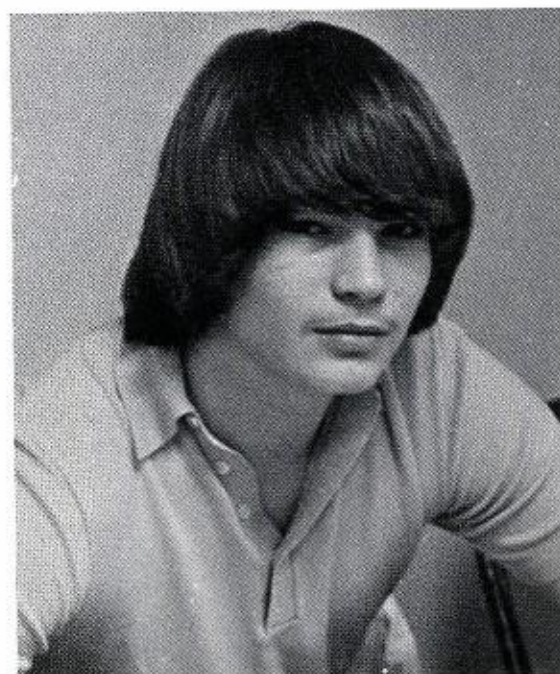

Jim Enright
 "I could help BHS by setting a good example for the underclassmen and trying to help our athletic teams win."

Ricky Armstrong
 "To set good examples for others to follow, and to always think, and reason before making decisions would help make BHS a better place."

Donnie Osborne
 "I can make BHS a better place by setting a good example and dedicating myself to football and keeping the momentum of spirit going through my Senior year."

Kelli Bolf

"By offering complete support to all club and team activities each student can boost the spirit of BHS. Brewer is a friendly school and our class is very close. I hope I can always, especially our year, be a part of the closeness."

Sheryl Saladino

"I can better BHS by supporting my school in all of its activities to my fullest potential. I can also try to set a better example for my fellow students on and off the school campus."

Keith Eichman

"I can increase friendships, become closer to my peers, and set goals higher and higher in my effort for striving toward excellence and trying to better BHS."

Who's Who

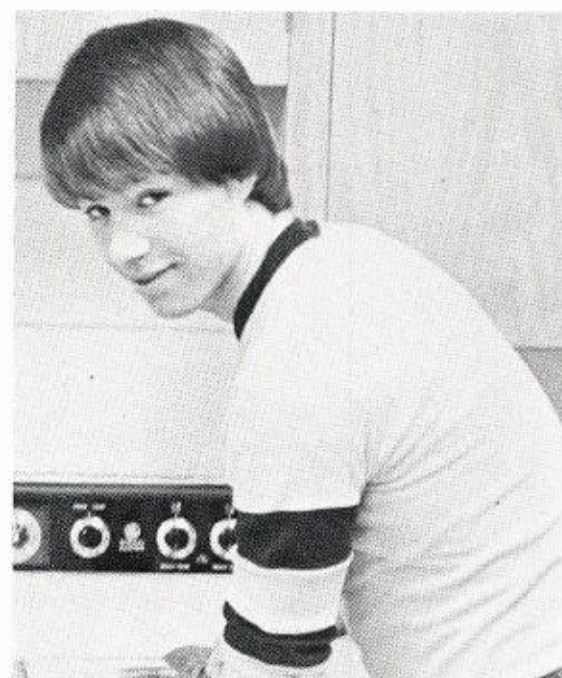

Cindy Pederson

"I would like to set an example that would provide more class unity, and create and maintain a pleasant atmosphere between faculty, teachers, and students to show learning is a fun and exciting privilege."

Phil Sawyer

"By trying to set good examples and help make school activities better, by involving others and myself in activities."

Linda Ferguson
 "I would participate in the offered activities to help them become a success and encourage others to participate also."

JoAnna Byars
 "BHS is a good school. There isn't much I could do to improve it."

Sophomore

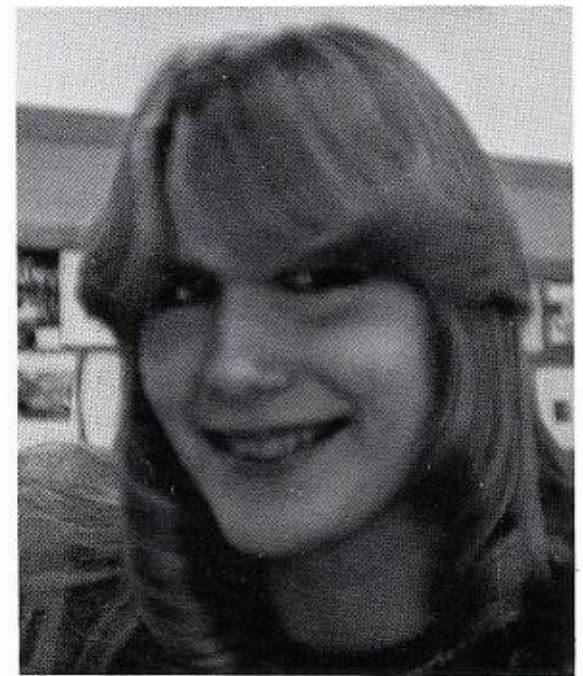

Mike Howard
 "To set an example by developing a high moral among the students and to better communication between students and faculty."

Sherry Thomasson
 "As an individual, I could become more involved in school activities and try to understand my teachers and friends so our school will be a better place to learn."

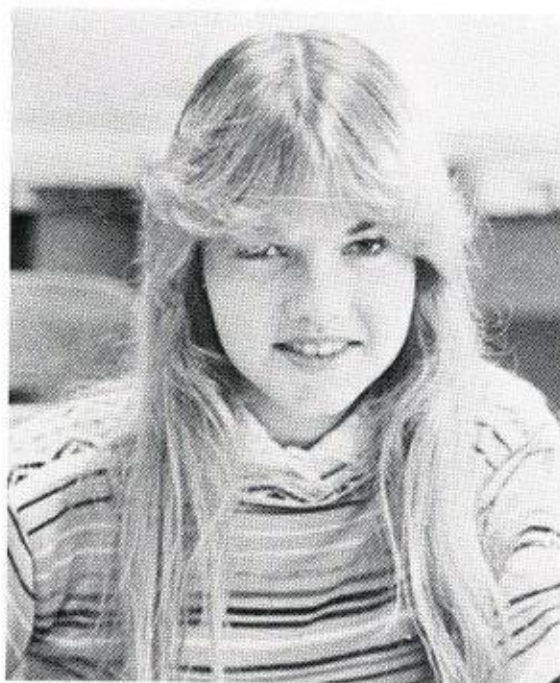

Deanna Brinkley
 "The only way I can help BHS is by setting a good example for others to follow and to always represent BHS well."

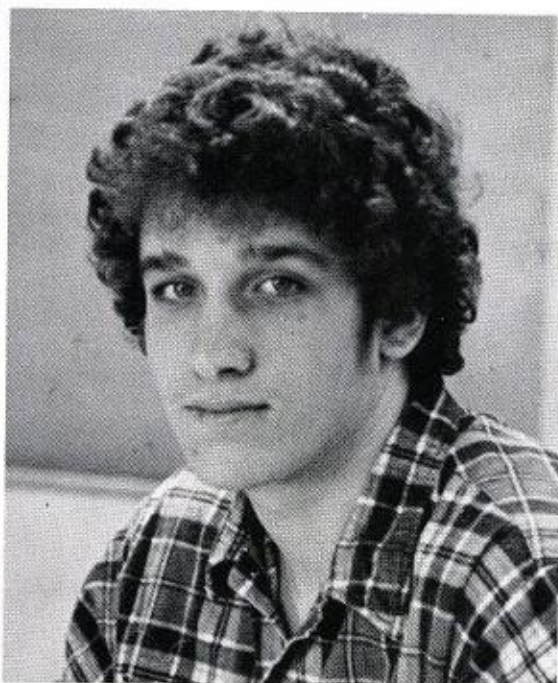

Raye Lynn Hill
 "By keeping my standards and goals high, strive and accomplish more I can better BHS. We should have more school spirit and enthusiasm."

Happy Cameron
 "I as an individual could better BHS by working with the faculty and student body in building better relationships with one another. Also by setting forth new ideas to help all of us here at BHS."

Leslie Houchin
 "I feel that any organization that wants to be successful must do so with the help of many people and not any one person. Therefore, I think that the way I can better my school is to do so in a group of people and not by myself. After all, a group is many individuals working together toward the same goal."

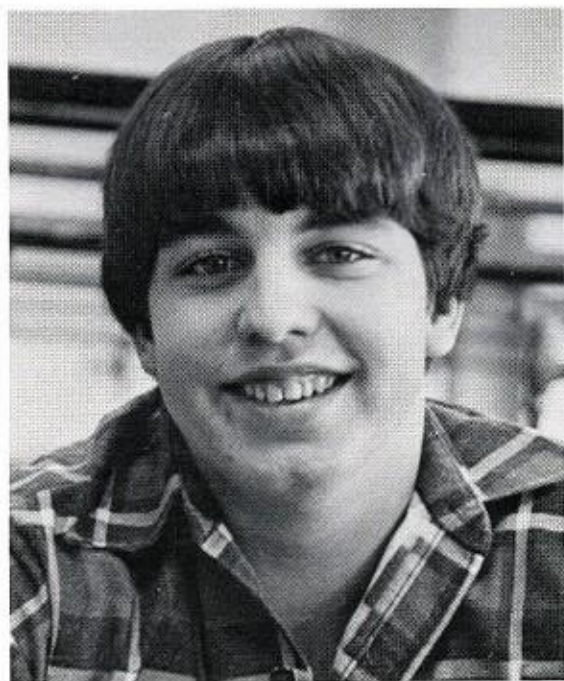

Who's Who

Phil Miller
 "To share my knowledge of Christ. The better you know him the better you are with him."

Cheryl Wilbur
 "As a cheerleader here at Brewer, I see a great deal of spirit in our crowds, but NOT ENOUGH. To better our school I would build up more spirit. Not only to back the football teams but also the basketball, baseball and track teams. I would really like to see our stands filled with fans supporting the Bears!"

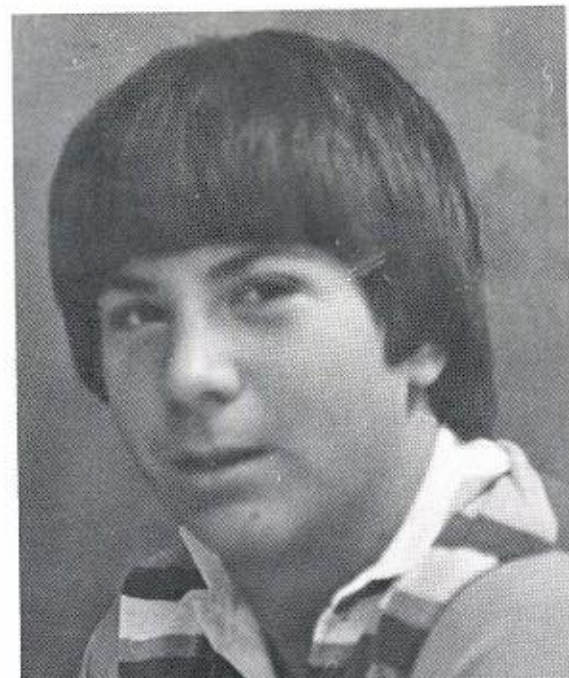

Jay Surratt

"The best way for me, as an individual, to contribute to the betterment on Brewer High School is through increased effort to improve my scholastic and athletic abilities, strengthen my school spirit, and expand my participation in school activities."

Clete Welch

"By helping to improve relationships among all students, producing a stronger student body, making BHS a one for all, all for one school."

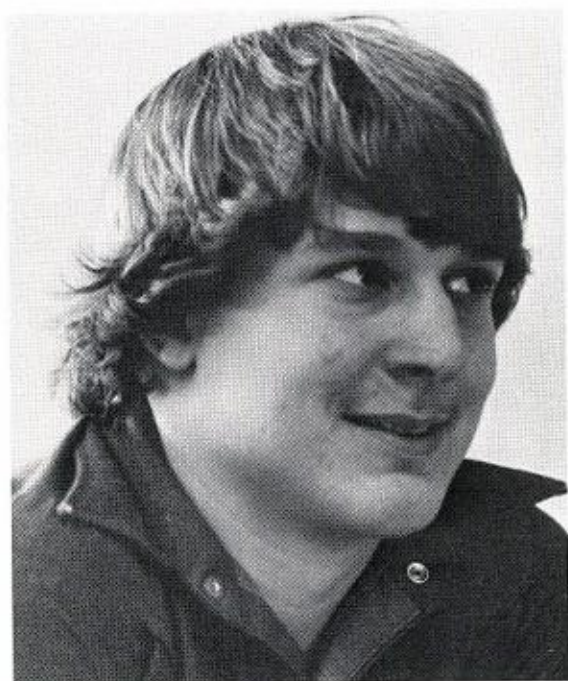

Freshman

Chris Covington

"I can set good examples in several ways. I can make suggestions to my teachers on how I think they could get their students more interested in certain activities. I can contribute to the activities that I am interested in and get others interested in school activities too. I can have a positive attitude toward my school and school work and influence others to do the same. I can talk highly to others about teachers, students, and my school, but not cut them down. I can let everyone know how happy and proud I am to be able to participate in my school activities. Setting a good example should be by trying to do the best I can in every class and activity that I participate in."

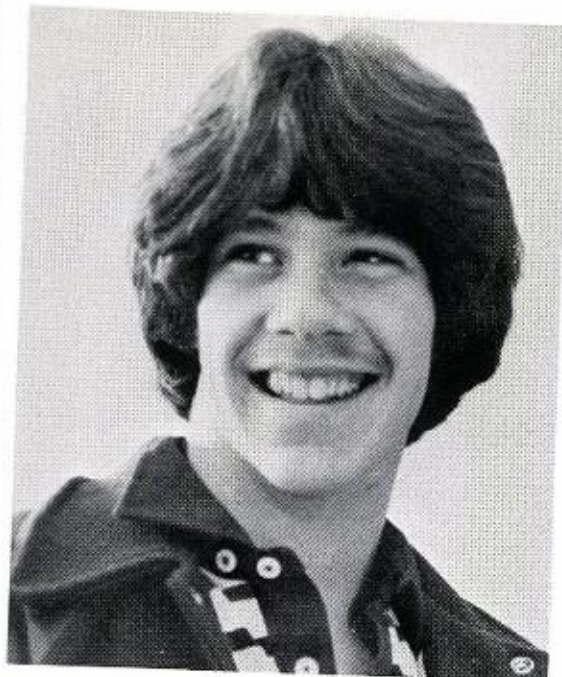

Robert Mitchell

"BHS is a great school. If I had to better anything, it would be the school spirit. We have a lot of spirit, but we can give more."

Jerry Longino

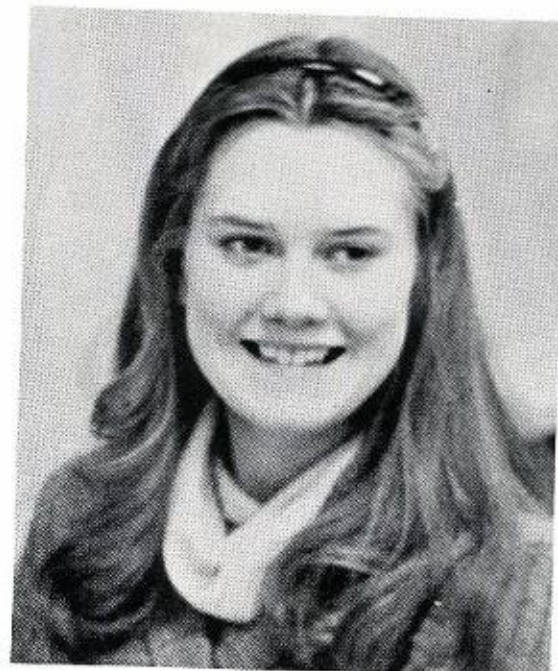

"I would try to let every student know the meaning of a good education and reaching their high goals of life."

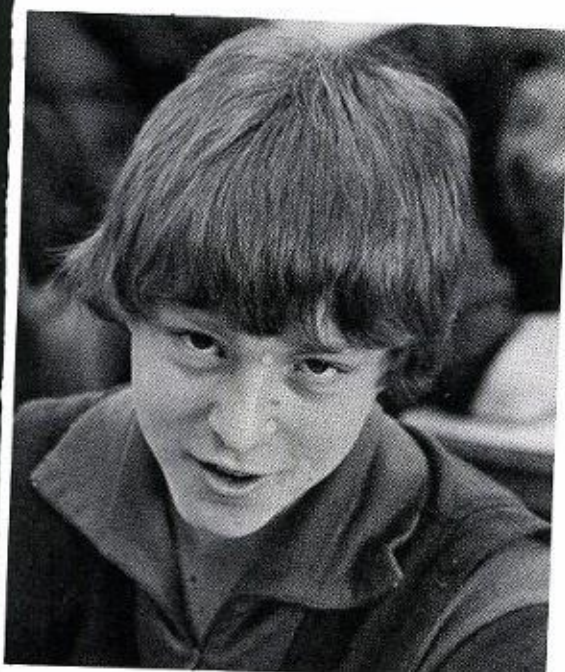

Kelly LeBlanc
 "Respect between students and teachers, pride in our school, friendship, and an appreciation for the opportunity to learn all that I can is what I would like to see at BHS."

Stephanie Smith
 "I can better BHS by supporting its activities and organizations, by always striving to keep my grades high, and by having pride in my school."

Lydia Brown
 "I feel I can better BHS, by developing a greater awareness of the needs of others, and then helping whenever possible."

Who's Who

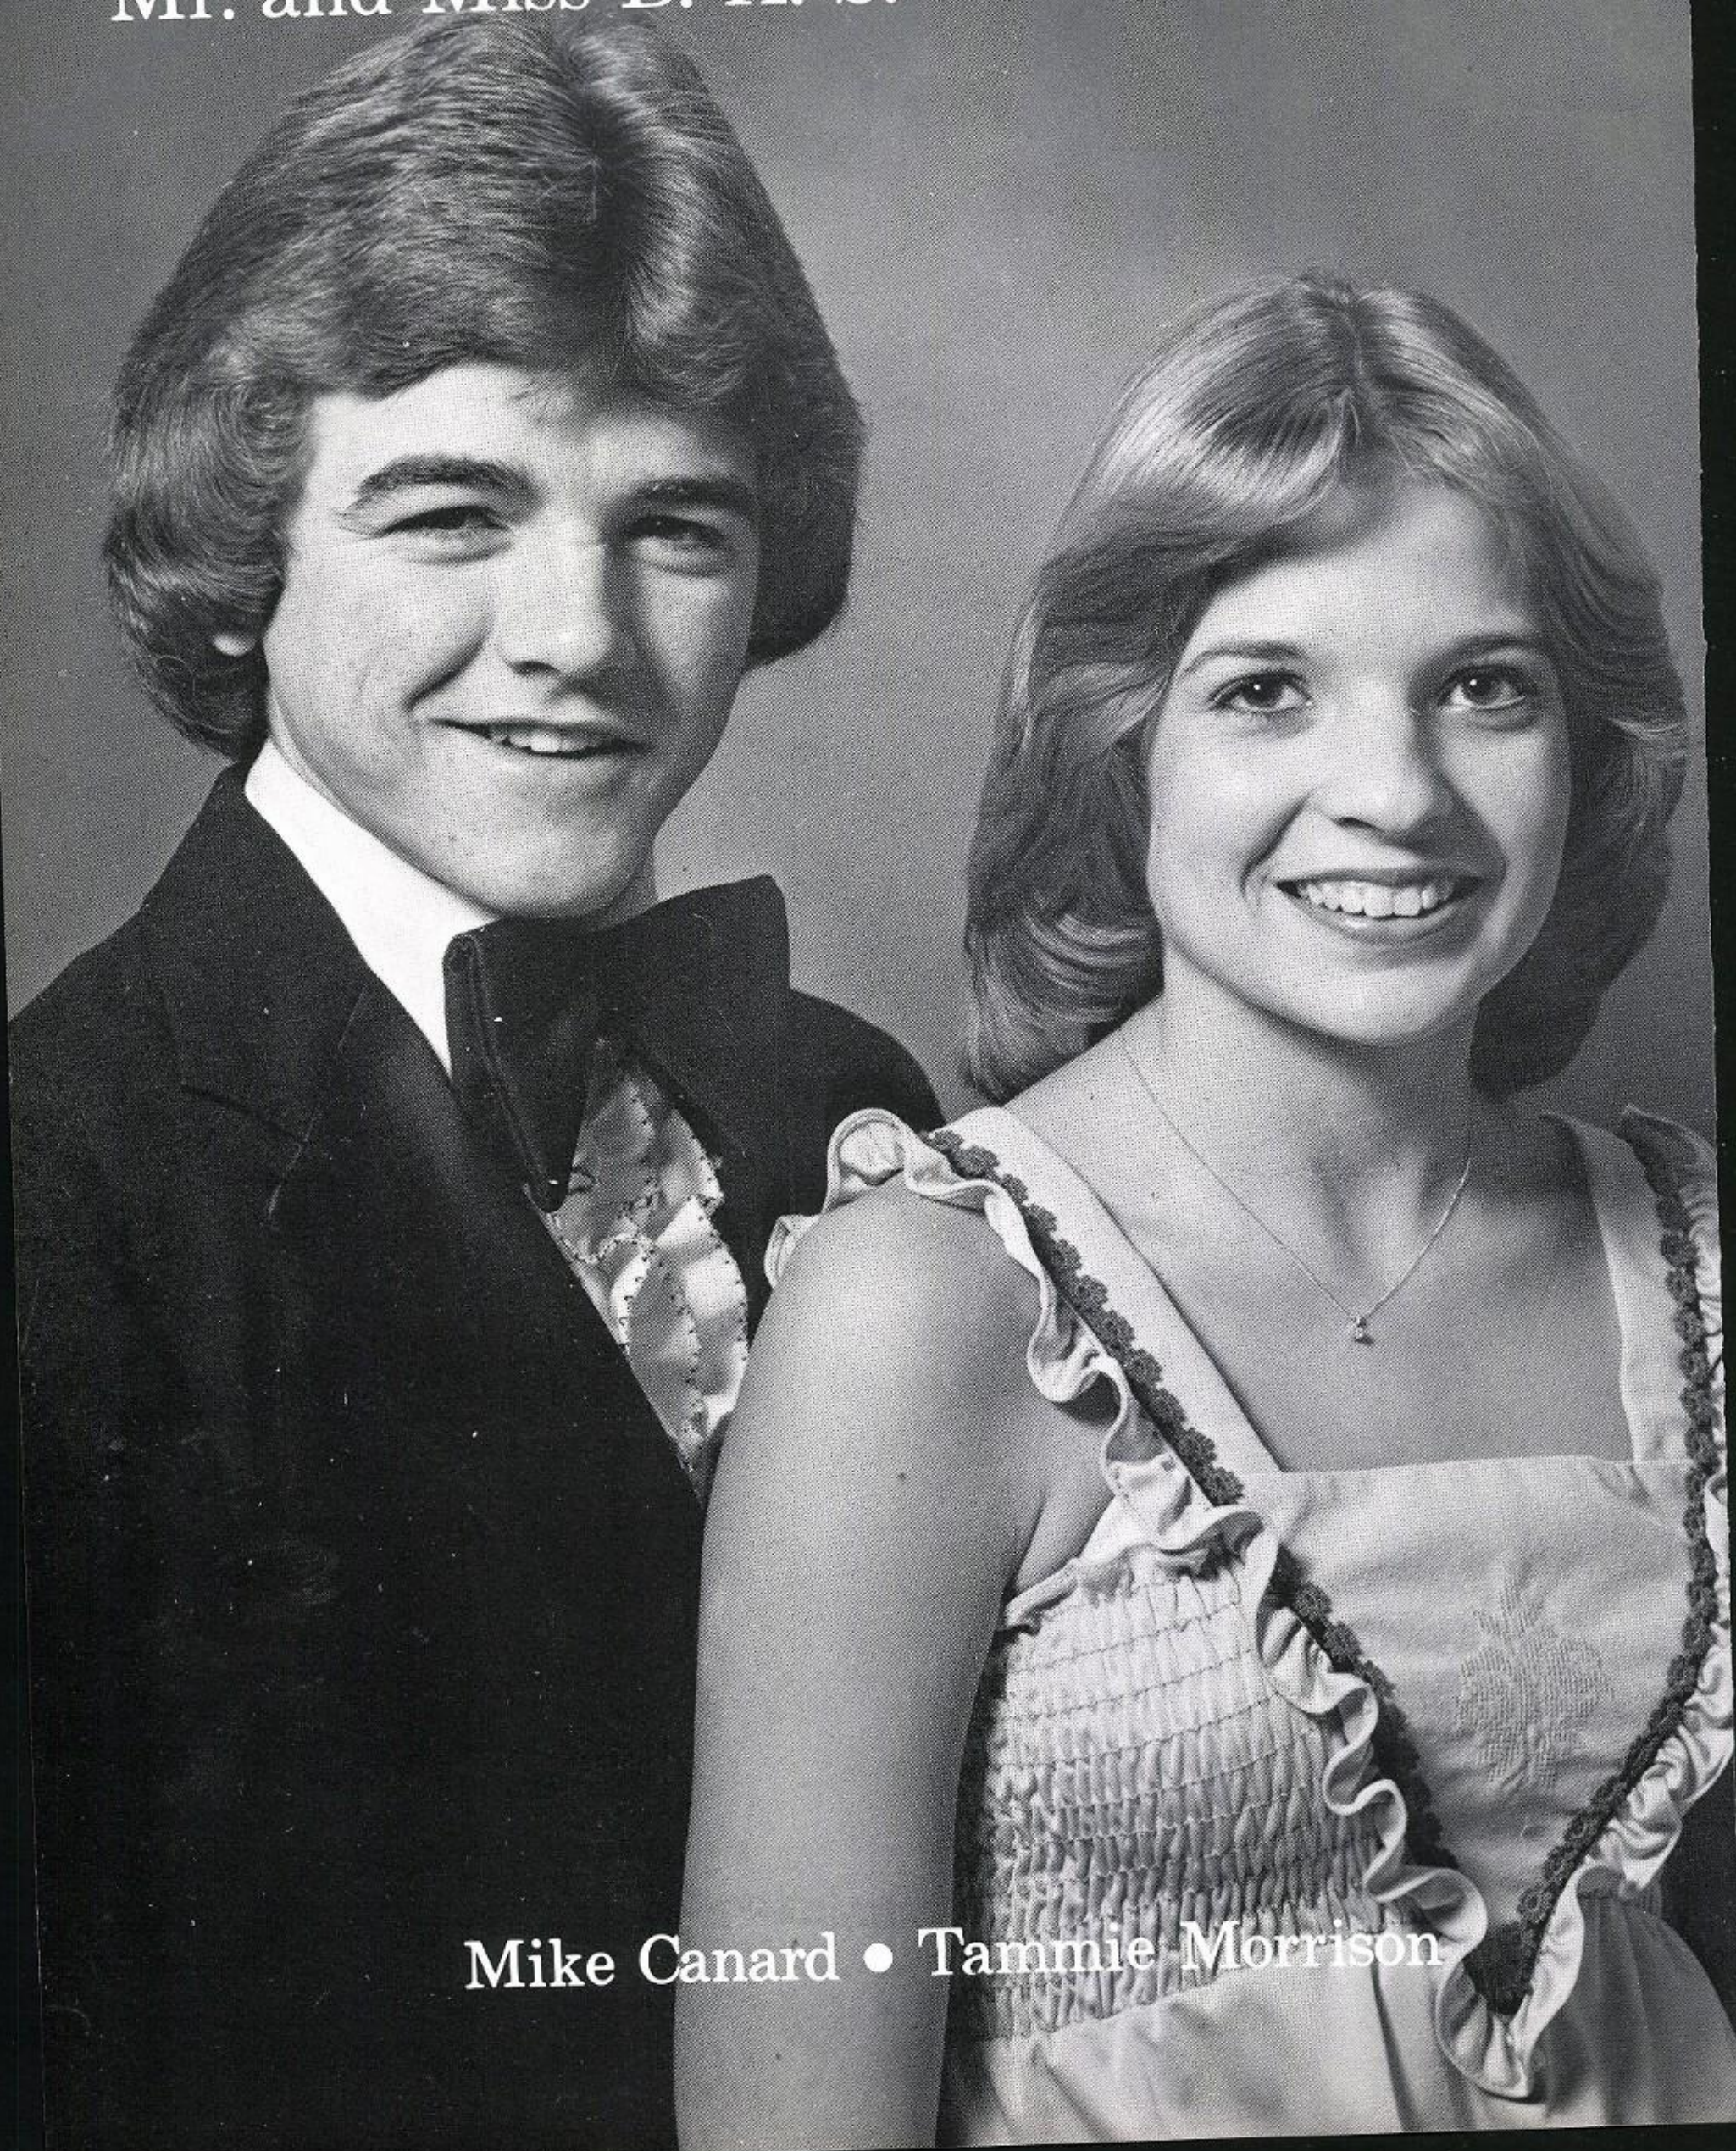

Bennie Auten
 "I plan on bettering BHS by striving to better myself any way possible and therefore I think the school will be more enjoyable and a better place to earn an education."

Kim Southers
 "I can better BHS by being myself and respecting others as themselves, because each person is an individual and without respect for each other, there is no cooperation, and without cooperation there cannot exist a proper learning atmosphere."

Mr. White Resigns After 15 Years Service

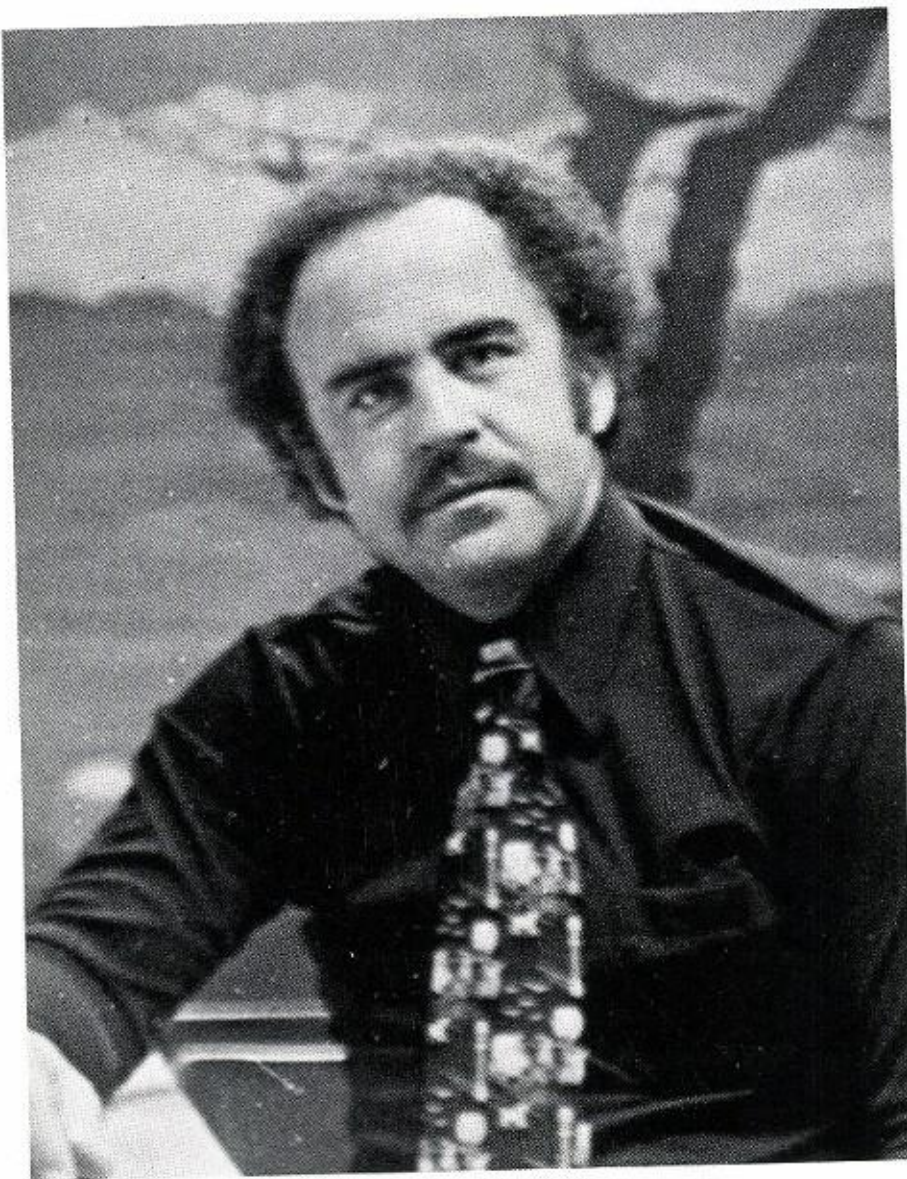

Mr. Charles White, former principal, resigned from his office during the month of February. He had spent 15 years devoting his time to his work and the students around him. When asked if he had any last words, he stated, "I wish the school and the system the best, and I hope the students will keep a good attitude. I hope this attitude will remain good like it has been since I have been here." He also commented, "The thing I enjoyed the most about my position was the students. It is most enjoyable and rewarding to watch them mature, both physically and mentally."

Superintendent's Message

For too long, students have "lulled" themselves into an "academic routine" which is not necessarily beneficial nor productive. Pupils share in the responsibility to prepare themselves for effective membership in American society. Although teachers must certainly aid in this preparation, the cooperation and dedication by students remain essential ingredients. Without a firm commitment to self-improvement and learning, no educational process can be successful. Just what then is required?

Students must learn to set personal objectives and work to accomplish them. This task is more difficult than it sounds for it necessitates constant self-evaluation and conscientious goal setting. Unfortunately, most pupils fail to ask themselves the obvious question: "What do I as an individual expect to gain from my academic training and how can I utilize this for productive community membership?". "Am I taking classes and attending school only as a "ritual" or can I honestly see the purpose and direction of the curriculum?"

It is time for students to begin making important educational decisions and to learn to accept the consequences of their actions. Things of value only come through work and self-sacrifice. Education is no different. There must be mutual interest and concern between students and teachers alike. Instructors can diligently prepare curriculums which are interesting, informative, and useful, but unless students appreciate and utilize these precious resources, the long-range value is doubtful. In short, whether you are an under or an upperclassman, the keys to a successful future are all present at Brewer High School. These keys will unlock endless doors of opportunities. The decision is yours!

Annual House Moves Backwards

At the beginning of every school year people RUSH to join various clubs. The disorganization at this time resembles a zoo. Those who are rejected from the elite clubs turn to the last resort, The Annual House.

If they are not frightened away by our fearless leader, "Bluto" Shaw, they have a chance to join. Those who are really rotten and have no friends automatically make the House. This house is looked down upon by its head authoritative figure, Dean Cullers. This cruel man uses his whip to tame these wild and crazy students.

These weird people do many strange things. One fine example is sending Dean Cullers to the office with a misconduct. How about a group of them staring out the window through pieces of processed film, to watch an eclipse? Some relieve their tensions and anxieties by other means. Some of these include sliding down the stair railing, Bluto giving a play by play account of an upcoming date (EVERY DAY?), and collecting money for the "Dean Cullers Hit Man Fund." Sometimes the money is scarce after the weekend.

The rest of the school helps support these rejects by donating $10.00 to their "Help Us Help You" fund. These superior students come to the cage of the Annual House once a year for this purpose (it's tax deductible) and are given a slip of paper in return. If all goes as it should, they can cash this slip of paper in at the end of the year for a book which illustrates the activities of the student body (including the rejects).

This seems to be the only productive purpose of this group. They bundle all their talents (?) together in the making of this book in an effort to redeem themselves in the eyes of the school.

When the big day arrives, the entire student body is gathered in the distribution area (gym). After long, boring, and totally inappropriate speeches by Dean Cullers, Bluto Shaw, and anyone else close to the microphone, the distribution begins. Amid shouts of "I know I gave my donation" and "Who's big idea was this theme?", the books are passed out.

Then, it is over and the animals begin to regroup for the next year . . .

Monty's Message

I've thought for quite sometime just what I want to say in this space. I thought I could tell you about the long, long, long, long, and boring hours we spent working on this, the only official record of the school year. But instead, I'll say this . . .

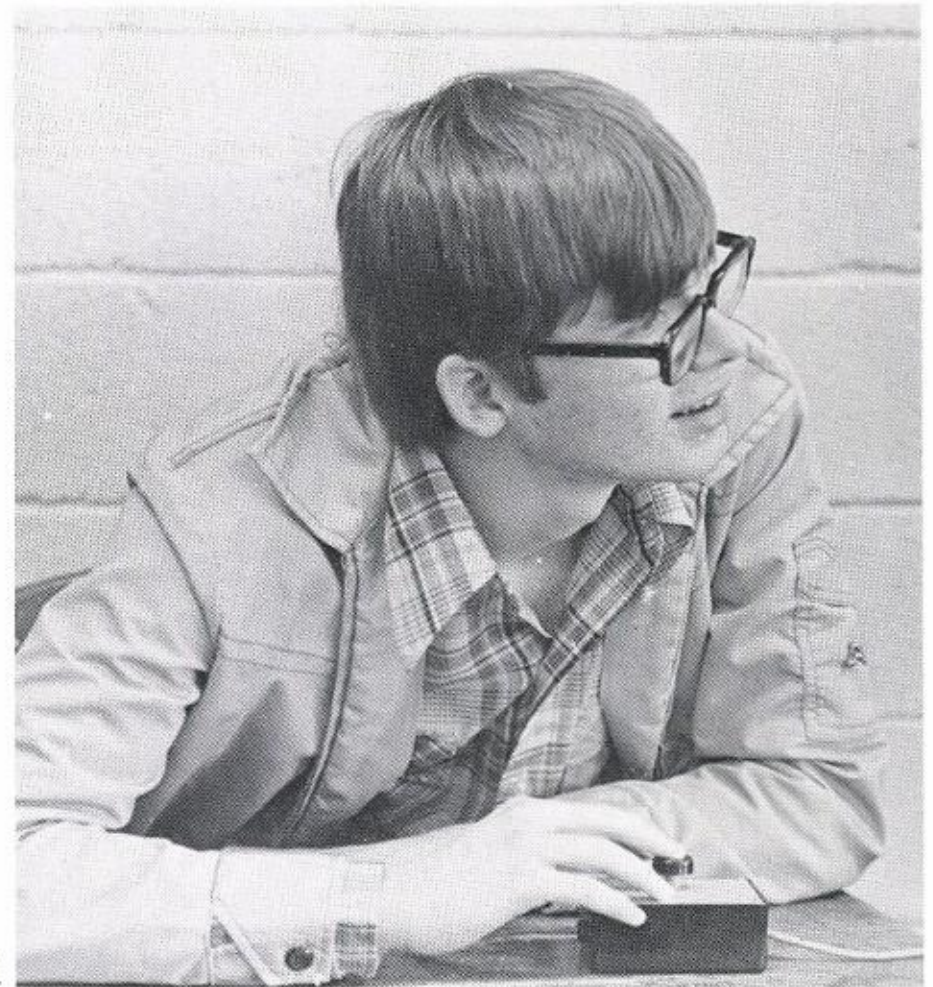

Future civilizations who somehow stumble across this book might be interested in how the annual portrays our culture. (We don't know why, but they might). For this reason, we felt we should bury all the copies of this book to preserve it for the sake of posterity. Somehow we feel, that after reading it, you'll want to bury yourself . . .

In conclusion; I can only say: If you liked the book, you'll love the movie!

Monty Shaw

Whiz Kids Continue to Advance

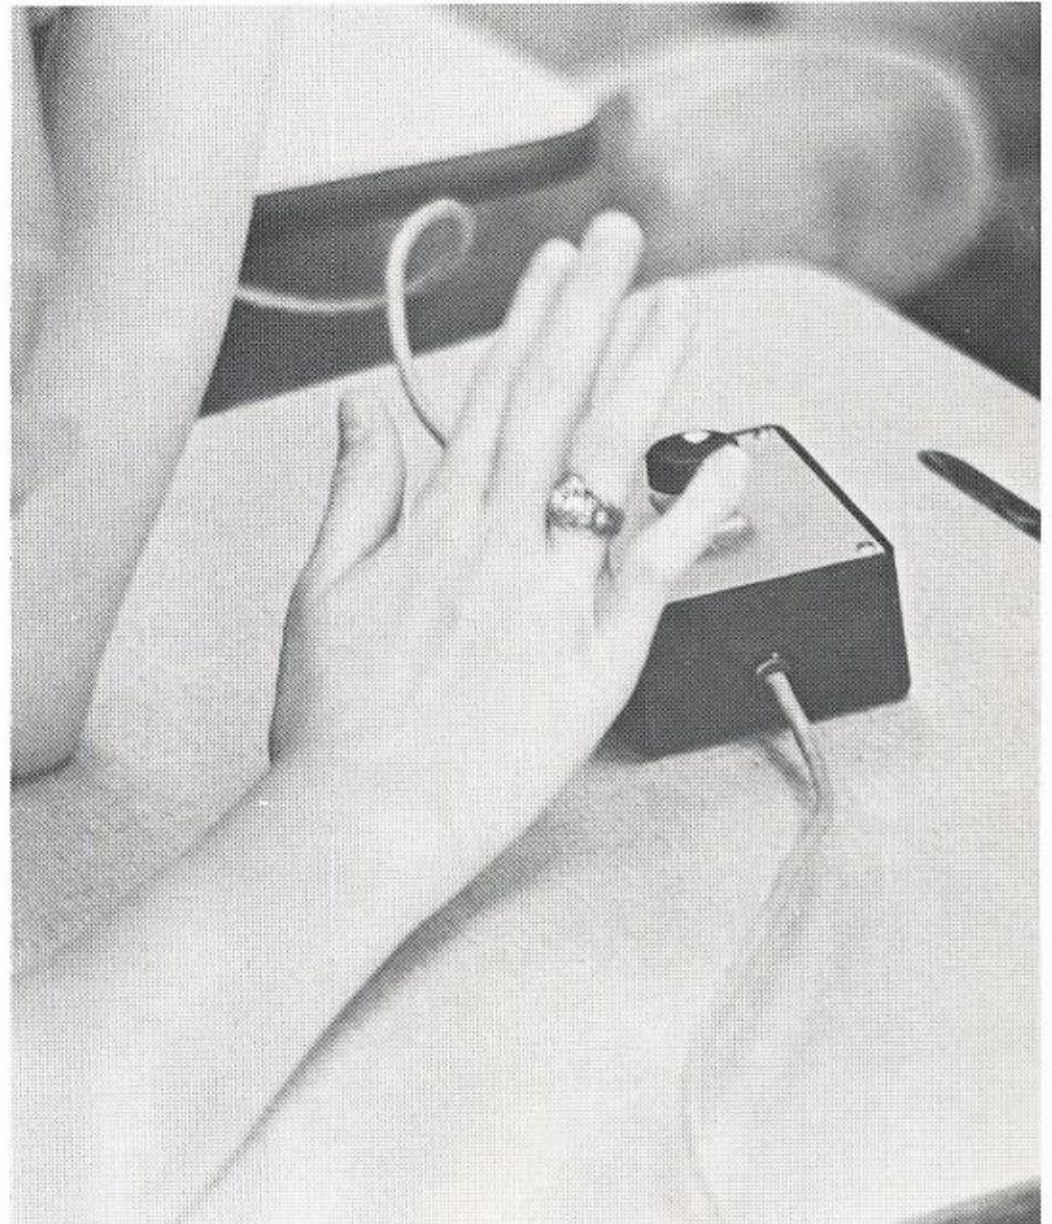

The 1978-79 Brewer High School "Whiz Kids" team is composed of Seniors Joe Chasse and Carolynne Dean and Juniors Melinda Evans and Monty Shaw. Last year's team finished second in the Dallas-Ft. Worth Metroplex losing only to St. Mark's in the Championship contest. Already, this year's team has defeated R. L. Turner of Dallas and Dallas Christian Academy. Brewer has distinguished itself as one of the eight top teams out of the forty participating schools. "Whiz Kids" is based upon general knowledge and instant recall. The team is coached by teachers Mike Mastandrea and Cherry Lynch.

1. Ron McClellan practices at break.
2. Mr. Mastandrea, Ms. Lynch, Melinda Evans, Monty Shaw, Carolyn Dean, and Joe Chase during a match.
3. Joe and Carolyn at practice.
4. Mrs. Hope listens to a question by Ms. Lynch.
